Arab Revolt Feared After Bombings

Jewish Agency Intends To Combat Terrorism

JERUSALEM, (CP)—Leaders of Futuwah, a Palestine Arab army, called for a parade and meeting Thursday in the Arab city of Nablus as rumors of an Arab uprising spread through Jerusalem in the wake of bombing attacks attributed by police to the Jewish underground.

Four British soldiers were killed and at least 12 Britons and six Arabs were wounded in Wednesday's incidents.

Simultaneously, a spokesman for the Jewish agency said "the Jewish agency and other Jewish authorities will combat with all the resources at their own disposal the criminal activities of gangs who not only terrorize British authorities, but Palestine Jews as well."

The bombings were an "attempt to coerce the Jewish community into an acceptance of policies and methods which it has always opposed," he added.

Police said Palestine was quiet as searches continued for the participants in Wednesday's incidents—the bombing of the central railway station and the mining of a troop convoy.

One source close to Arab political leaders said, "The Arabs in Palestine are beginning to feel that nothing will stop these Jewish terrorists except force."

"The British won't do it and Arab patience wears thin," he added. "Everywhere there is talk of revolting against these marauding Jews and what now appear to us to be their British protectors."

U.N. to Discuss Arms Proposal

NEW YORK, (AP)—Russia's proposals for world arms reduction were assured a full airing in the United Nations assembly when the 14-country general committee decided Thursday to include the disarmament question in the assembly's agenda.

The committee agreed unanimously to send the armament issue to the 51-power assembly and to have it referred immediately to the assembly's political committee.

The proposal to put the question on the agenda was offered by British delegate Philip J. Noel-Baker as soon as the general (steering) committee met.

"I accept the proposal of the representative of the United Kingdom," said Soviet Delegate Vishinsky.

The committee voted also to include the controversial Spanish question on the assembly agenda for full debate of the charges against the Franco regime.

By Peter Inglis

NEW YORK.—The United States Wednesday night gave its answer to Foreign Commissar Molotov's bitter attack of the day before.

It was a full answer that the general secretary of the United Nations heard: an answer in which blunt directness, a measure of sarcasm and more than a little genuine idealism were mixed.

Most important, it contained a definitive re-statement of American policy, some parts of which were completely new.

Among these, as presented by Senator Warren Austin, head of the United States delegation:

(1). The U. S. "will not repent the mistake" it made after the last war of "disarming unilaterally", but it wants to disarm along with all other countries on a multilateral basis accompanied by "effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violation and evasion."

This suggestion of an international inspection of all armaments is new to U. S. policy, which in the past has gone only as far as inspection of atomic weapons. Such an inspection was proposed two decades ago by Russia's Litvinoff, but most emphatically not this week by Russia's Molotov, who poured scorn on Bernard Baruch's plan for the control of atomic energy, the keystone of which is international inspection.

(2). "The United States hopes" (the word was changed from Sen. Austin's text) that the Big Five powers "may find it desirable at some time in the future to full agreement among themselves and with

Boy Darts Across Highway, Is Struck, Instantly Killed

CARMAN SMITH

Carman Ross Smith, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Smith, 10150 153 st. was instantly killed when struck by an eastbound auto at 132 st. and the Jasper highway Wednesday at 7:40 p.m.

R.C.M.P. said Lyle Edward Scott, 5910 156 st. was the driver of the car which struck the boy as he ran from his father's car across the highway to a store where his mother was purchasing groceries. The right front portion of the car struck the boy throwing him back over the front fender. He was dead when Smith's Ambulance arrived.

Mr. Smith said his son had remained with him and a younger son, Barry, while the mother went across the street to the store. Shortly after Mrs. Smith left, Carman said he wanted to go and see if there was any candy in the store.

"He jumped out the right front door," Mr. Smith said, "then everything happened so fast . . . The next thing I knew, he had been hit and was lying on the road."

Speed Moderate

Scott was travelling east at a moderate rate of speed, according to the R.C.M.P. highway patrol. He applied his brakes and swung to the left as soon as he saw the child. His car swerved in a complete semi-circle, ending up facing in the direction from which it had come.

The driver was not charged. Both the mother and father of the victim said they believed Scott was not to blame.

Their son was dressed in warm clothing and the street lighting where the accident occurred was very poor.

City Coroner Dr. M. M. Cantor viewed the body at Foster and McGarvey's funeral chapel, but said he could not give the exact cause of death until a post-mortem was performed. An inquest may be held but this has not been decided.

Carman was a grade three student at West Jasper Place school. Many of his playmates, hearing of the accident were at the scene during the 6 p.m. dismissal.

Going to Grandmother's

"They were on their way to visit me," Mrs. A. Y. Law, Warwick, paternal grandmother of the victim said. "They have been coming down practically every night with the boys. Carman was supposed to have gone for the groceries before supper but it was a little late so they decided to pick them up on the way to my place."

Mr. Smith is employed as a driver for Gas and Oil Products Ltd. He and his family had been living in the district only about six weeks.

Surviving beside the parents, the younger brother and Mrs. Law is Mrs. Noel Alsop, Dawson Creek, grandmother. An older brother died four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are awaiting word from Moo Jaw where completing funeral arrangements.

Albania Protests Royal Navy Moves

BELGRADE, (Reuters) — Albania Wednesday called for United Nations action against Britain, charging the Royal Navy with "attempting to provoke incidents" by sending warships into Albanian waters, the Yugoslav news agency reported.

Gen Enver Hodja, Albanian premier, sent a telegram to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, strongly protesting against four British warships entering Albanian waters on Oct. 22.

On that day the British destroyers Saumarez and Volage struck mines in the Corfu channel between the Albanian coast and the Greek island of Corfu with the loss of 43 dead and 41 wounded. The destroyers had been taking part in the British Mediterranean fleet's autumn manoeuvres.

In London the substance of the Albanian complaint was denied by a foreign office spokesman.

It was authoritatively stated that although the Corfu channel, to which the Albanian complaint is believed to refer, is too narrow to permit passage of its whole length without entering the territorial waters of the neighboring states, it has always been considered in international law to be a "highway of international traffic." This means that international shipping has always been accorded the right of "innocent passage."

Historic Garage On Highway Burns

FORT ST. JOHN. — The largest maintenance garage on the Alaska highway burned to the ground at Camp 40, the Regional construction camp on the highway, half a mile from here Wednesday morning.

The building, roughly 80 by 260 feet, stood 40 feet high. Black smoke, belching from oil drums, and the tarred paper used in its construction, could be seen for miles, as it rose 2,000 feet in the air.

Three or four trucks, one of them a fire engine, elaborate heating equipment, and a large variety of tools and equipment for the maintenance of highway vehicles during construction, were lost in the blaze.

The fire would probably cost the War Assets corporation $50,000, it was estimated by reliable sources here.

Three warehouses, which at one time held millions of dollars worth of precision instruments, also were razed. They were empty at the time of the fire. The fire had also was burned to the ground, and one fire engine was badly damaged before it could be removed from the flames.

George Bard, in charge of the large maintenance camp for War Assets, would make no statement. He was out of the camp on a business visit to the Fort St. John airport when the fire broke out, and first noticed the fire when he saw the huge column of thick, black smoke as he returned to camp.

The fire was discovered by John Coulpier, who turned in the alarm to Fort St. John police.

The camp is comprised of 85 buildings, and was the first erected on the Alaska highway when construction began. In it were repaired all types of vehicle, from as far north as the Yukon border.

The New Brunswick premier said only minor details and final drafting of the formal contract, replacing the wartime tax agreement which ends Thursday, remain to be settled.

Cabinet of Chile Includes 3 Reds

SANTIAGO — President-elect Gonzalez Videla announced Thursday he had formed a cabinet of "unity" which includes three Communists, representing that party's first participation in the Chilean cabinet.

The assumption by the Communists of two posts — agriculture and public land — was viewed here as an indication that Gonzalez intends to carry out a Communist-supported plan to organize agricultural labor unions and reduce absentee ownerships. Both Conservatives and Liberals have opposed the plan bitterly.

Inflation Declared Big Danger Now

Inflation is the big hazard facing Canada at present, making it essential to avoid lifting price controls too soon, in the opinion of Arthur B. Wood, of Montreal, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada. He is visiting Edmonton on a western branch inspection tour.

Mr. Wood said life insurance companies are doing everything possible to help relieve the housing shortage in Canada. Approximately $45,000,000 has been advanced on loans across the dominion under the National Housing act by the Sun Life company alone.

Mr. Wood, who is accompanied by Mrs. Wood, also has in his party, J. A. McAllister, Calgary, formerly of Edmonton, director of agencies for the company, and Mr. McAllister, Walter Aitridge of Montreal, superintendent of agencies for Canada, and H. U. Banks, of Montreal, secretary to the president.

Pressure Expected

There was great danger, he said, that the lifting of price controls in the U.S. would bring strong pressure on the dominion government to remove controls in Canada. Some groups advocating such a removal were thinking of what they believed to be their own immediate benefit.

With controls off and a strong demand for goods, there was a great danger of runaway prices. Such conditions were invariably followed by a depression "which we are all trying to avoid," he said.

Mr. Wood said insurance companies had been urging people to invest their money in government savings bonds and life insurance These were all steps designed to put the brakes on inflationary tendencies.

Materials Scarce

Mr. Wood said shortages of material and labor had been factors in preventing life insurance companies from doing more along the housing line.

Mr. Wood said the Sun Life and other companies were writing 50 percent more business than a year ago.

Asked for his views on social security measures, Mr. Wood said these were sound and doubtless needed if they were kept within limits that the country could bear financially.

Churchill Asks U.N. End War Talk By Disclosure of 'Military Facts'

LONDON, (CP) — Winston Churchill declared Thursday he hoped the United Nations would "sweep away" war talk by providing for an interchange of "actual facts" as a substitute for "inadequate reciprocal inspection."

Britain's wartime prime minister called for the premier of Stalin an "instigator of a new war"—as he did in a speech accepting the freedom of the city of Birmingham. The honor was presented in his London home.

"We are told that one of the great evils from which we suffer is international suspicion," Mr. Churchill said. "There is a very good remedy for suspicion.

"It is the full disclosure of the facts, and that simple sovereign remedy, I hope, will be applied to the world situation by the United Nations organization now meeting in the United States, and what is called war talk swept away by an interchange of actual military facts supported by adequate reciprocal inspection and forms of honorable equality between all the powers, great and small, which are involved."

Mr. Churchill told the Birmingham delegation that he did not "consider that our dangers were past and everything could see for himself that our troubles had by no means entirely fallen away."

"Certainly I hope for a broad peace to be gained by the world—a peace for all, a peace and a reconciliation of the nations as well as victors," the Conservative party leader declared.

"I trust that the statesmen who manage our affairs will make sure that all healing processes which time and nature can supply will, at least, be allowed to flow freely and our bitter hatreds of the past may be gradually assuaged."

OTTAWA, (CP)—Issue of $400,000,000 Dominion of Canada 1½ per cent bonds dated Nov. 1, 1946, and due Nov. 1, 1950, was announced Wednesday by Finance Minister Ilsley.

The bonds will be issued to the Bank of Canada and chartered banks with the proceeds being used to retire short-term low-interest Victory Bonds which mature this year. Issues to be retired are $197,455,000 1¼ percent Fourth Victory Loan due Nov. 1; $43,125,700 4½ percent conversion loan due Nov. 1, 1956, and called at Nov. 1, 1946, and $193,286,000 two percent 1941 Victory Loan due Dec. 15, 1946.

Maturity dates and denominations of the new issue will be identical with those of the Ninth Victory Loan short-term bonds. The price received by the government was 100.75 percent, or a cost basis of approximately 1.35 percent for the four-year term.

2 Ships Aground Off West Coast

VANCOUVER, (CP) — The treacherous, rock-bound coasts of Vancouver Island held two vessels aground Thursday and one, a 90-foot packer with six men aboard, reported she was pounding on a reef, might break up and sent a radio call that was being answered by at least two ships.

The other was the veteran 2,731-ton B. C. coastwise steamer Princess Norah which went aground on a sandbar off Comox harbor on the island's east coast with an unknown number of passengers inbound for Vancouver. But she was reported in "no danger" and was expected to refloat herself on high tide Thursday.

Captain Axel Anderson of the packer San Jose radioed Wednesday night to Western Chemical Industries, Ltd., here, the vessel's owners, that his vessel was hard aground on Fulford reef between Cadboro point and Discovery island and listed within sight of Victoria.

He said at the time of radioing that the ship was "apparently sound" but added she was being pounded on the reef and did not know if he and his five-man crew would have to abandon her. His radio transmitter suffered tendencies.

Materials Scarce

Mr. Wood said shortages of material and labor had been factors in preventing life insurance companies from doing more along the housing line.

Mr. Wood said the Sun Life and other companies were writing 50 percent more business than a year ago.

Asked for his views on social security measures, Mr. Wood said these were sound and doubtless needed if they were kept within limits that the country could bear financially.

Bomb Blast in Rome Wrecks Wing of British Embassy

ROME, (AP)— A thundering bomb explosion which shook the city wrecked an entire wing of the British embassy early Thursday and wounded an Italian passerby, perhaps mortally. Police and embassy officials were themselves without a clue as to the identity of the perpetrators.

The explosion, reaching back for a depth of two rooms was torn into the building by the blast, resulting from the suitcased full of explosives detonated by clockwork. The heavy masonry of the block-long three-story structure was cracked so deeply that police said part of it might have to be pulled down. Embassy personnel escaped injury.

J. G. Ward, the British charge d'affaires, felt the blast sounded to him like "a 500-pounder." Windows throughout the building in ugly Rome, and in buildings across the street, were shattered. The apartment of Ambassador Sir Noel Charles, who is away on leave, was damaged heavily.

Italian investigators said they could perceive no sign or reason why anyone in Italy should want to bomb the British building, for sustained terms of British policies has been lacking in Italy since the war ended.

The positive ex duty at the scene hazarded the theory that diehard Fascists who screwed explosives received a half-dozen fallen comrades Monday on the 24th anniversary of Mussolini's march on Rome might have been responsible.

Rome's morning newspapers demanded vigorous police action to find those responsible.

Start Air Search For Missing Pair

Two R.C.A.F. aircraft left Edmonton airport about 12:30 p.m. Thursday to make an aerial search for a city youth and his Vancouver companion missing since Sunday in the unsettled Freeman river district, about 80 miles northwest of Edmonton. The missing Persons are Alfred Schram, 15, of 11935 78 st. and James Chappell, 25, of Vancouver.

Both men are strangers to the district, according to R.C.M.P. who made a ground search without success. Planes were called into service by the police Thursday and two aircraft equipped with sleeping bags and emergency rations were on hand to relieve the crews on a few hours.

The missing men reported to Frank Babin's lumber camp in the Freeman river district Saturday planning to work there for the winter season. It was believed they went out for a walk through the bush Sunday and failed to return. They were reported to have a rifle, four rounds of ammunition and a hunting knife. Although strangers to the area they are believed experienced in the bush.

It was in the same densely-underbrushed country that Gus Simard, an aged pensioner, is believed to have lost his life last October. An extensive search for Simard, resident of Fort Assiniboine, was conducted but no trace of him was found.

May End Control On Wages Dec. 31

OTTAWA, (CP)—Efforts are being made to speed the winding up of wage controls with a Dec. 31 target for their abolition, it was learned Thursday. Salary controls are expected to disappear at the same time.

Labor Minister Mitchell has said that the only reason until the wage control regulations will be eliminated as soon as possible. This is because of the delay in their effect between the first of the year and March 15 when emergency powers legislation will expire. Steps now is being made, however, in the hope of removing the controls by the end of March, it was learned.

Already there has been signs of a slowing down in activities of the National War Labor board. Once wage controls are lifted, control regulations—which apply to executives and "white collar" workers—also will disappear.

Study Agreement On Alaska Road

OTTAWA, (CP)— The Canadian and United States governments are studying the Alaska highway agreement and negotiations are pending it to determine whether there is any misunderstanding on the part of American citizens to ship goods by truck in bond along that northern roadway to Alaska.

This was disclosed Thursday in connection with disputes from Seattle last week stating United States authorities as saying Canada was discriminating against Americans in her refusal to permit them to transport goods by truck in bond.

Informed sources here said that if it were found the agreement extended that privilege to U.S. citizens they would be given it. Otherwise, the U.S. government would have to make a new request for such treatment, which if it was extended to Americans, also would be granted to Canadians.

U. N. to Discuss Proposals For World Arms Reduction

other members, to support modification of the unanimity requirement (the famous veto).

"However, a case for admendment of the charter ought not to be made on so brief an experience. The United States is opposed to amendment of article 27 of the charter at this time." (Article 27 is the one establishing the rule whereby any major power can veto any substantive decision of the security council with which it does not agree.)

Would Give Accounting

(3). "The U.S. is willing to give an accounting of its forces still on ex-non-enemy soil, as demanded by Molotov, as well as on enemy soil —provided Russia also will give an accounting of its dispositions on both; but it is our opinion that the proposed inquiry should include all mobilized armed forces, whether at home or abroad."

In other words Russia should tell the world how many men she has concentrated on her own borders.

(4). The U.S. considers the security council (and hence the veto) only one part in the large and developing scheme of the United Nations. The speech stressed the future expansion of the general assembly into new fields and the formation of new U.N. agencies in an apparent attempt to pull the distorted place which veto publicity has given the security council back into proper perspective.

Senator Austin Wednesday night really made two speeches. The first two pages of his 12-page text were a direct answer to Molotov, written during the day and attached to the front of the address almost at the last minute. The other 10 pages were his original speech, drafted before Molotov cut loose, and concentrating especially on the development of U.N. and on the veto.

Argument, Sarcasm

The shorter, first speech, was a masterly piece of argument and of sarcasm.

There was obvious relish in Senator Warren's voice as he slikily told the Russians, "We welcome the confidence expressed by Mr. Molotov that unanimous agreement among all the nations both large and small can be achieved on such vital matters as the control of atomic energy and on steps to lighten the burden of armaments and military expenditures which still rests so heavily upon the peoples of the world.

"The United States urges disarmament.

"The United States believes that Mr. Molotov's proposal should be placed in our agenda and fully considered and discussed.

"The initiative of the Soviet Union in this matter is appropriate, because of its mighty armies; just as the initiative of the United States was appropriate in proposing measures to prevent the manufacture and use of atomic weapons."

Direct Quotations

Then he interlarded his words with direct quotations from Molotov's speech:

"We cannot reduce armaments merely by talking about the "regulation of armaments and possibe disarmament," or the "heavy economic burden caused by excessive expenditures for armaments."

"At the beginning of April, four of the five members of the military staff committee made specific proposals (covering disarmament). In September the Soviet Union submitted for the first time a statement of its views on the problem.

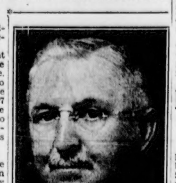

"I am happy to note that Mr. Molotov referred to the work of the military staff committee. I hope it will now be possible for this committee to make rapid progress."

This section of the speech, where it referred to U.S. willingness to give to U.N. figures of its forces on foreign soil, appeared at first sight to be reversal of policy.

Work of Committee

Actually, the earlier U.S. refusal to accept the Russian motion for such action before the security council was made because Russia brought up the subject under a section of the charter covering threats to world peace. Russia's new proposal, accepted by the U.S. is in connection with the work of the military staff committee.

The second part of Senator Austin's speech was longer-draw-out and slower moving than the first, but, read at full length, it was an important exposition of the United State's belief in the United Nations as a flexible, growing organization.

Admit Statement In Murder Trial

WINNIPEG, (CP)— Conflicting statements by Mrs. Helen Berard, crown witness at the trial of Lawrence Deacon for the iron bolt killing last March of taxi driver Jobann Johnson, will be considered by the jury which Wednesday sat through the third day of this trial.

This was the ruling of Mr. Justice Major when he ruled as admissible evidence a statement given police by Mrs. Berard prior to the trial.

Information in it did not jibe with the testimony she gave Tuesday under cross-examination—testimony which caused her to be declared a hostile witness—but Mr. Justice Major said he would deal with the question of the statement's credibility in his charge to the jury.

The crown charges Johnson was clubbed to death in his taxi in suburban Tuxedo March 31, the slayer using an 18-inch bolt for the killing.

In her oral testimony Mrs. Berard told the court she had left a taxi in which she and Deacon had been riding and that the car had departed. Later she saw a second car and it was in this car that she saw a man lying on the front seat, with another man standing in the rear of the vehicle.

In her statement, however, she had said the 32-year-old accused was in a taxi cab when she saw Johnson lying down in the front seat.

Raid by Detectives Fails to Find Jewels

LONDON, (CP)—Scotland Yard, tipped that it might find some of the Duchess of Windsor's stolen jewels, raided a shop in exclusive Mayfair Wednesday night—but got only four pink pelts and $40 worth of cheap jewelry.

A north London factory, meanwhile was raided by thieves who took $4,000 worth of goods, including silk damask ordered for Buckingham Palace.

Damp West Grain May Cut Exports

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Problem of handling grain shipments from Alberta, where bad weather threshing resulted in a high proportion of tough and damp grain, will be discussed at a conference here Friday.

The grain must be dried before shipment from Vancouver, otherwise it would be in danger of spoilage when moving through tropical sea areas to overseas markets, and only limited facilities are available here for drying.

The problem for Vancouver grain men is just how much of the damp grain can be dried and prepared for shipment here.

Fred Ludlum, chief inspector, board of grain commissioners, will attend the Friday conference.

Unless the problem is solved there will be a sharp reduction in grain exports from here this year. Earlier it had been estimated 80,000,000 bushels would move though the port during the 1946-47 crop year.

Famed Atlantic Lobster Being Tested in Pacific

VICTORIA, (CP) — The famed on transplanting in a big way. This Bay of Fundy lobster has found a new—but as yet experimental—home in Pacific waters and if he likes it British Columbia may get another important addition to her already vital fisheries.

Provincial fisheries officials' said an experimental batch of 2,000 lobsters transplanted from Fundy Last June to a secret lagoon in the Gulf of Georgia are "doing fine" so far. Fisheries inspectors have just had another look at them and they seem to be getting acclimatized to Pacific waters.

Assistant commissioner of fisheries, George J. Alexander said location of the experimental lobster lagoon is being kept secret to avoid poaching by those with epicurean tastes. But inspections of the bed showed some carrying eggs, though it is too early to say if they will breed successfully.

"This might go on for six or eight months and then we might discover they had petered out," Mr. Alexander said. "It will take a year before we know if they will propagate. They must become acclimatized to the various environmental conditions here—water temperature, salinity and food.

"We hope to find out from this shipment if it is feasible to embark

Asks Ottawa Pay Varsity Research

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Dr. Wilder Graves Penfield of Montreal Wednesday said here that federal government contributions to university research are "an urgent national need" in Canada.

"They would be a better investment than armaments and more to be trusted than treaties," he told the fall convocation of the University of British Columbia.

Dr. Penfield, director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, said a federal university grants committee to assist higher education should be set up "to single out university departments capable of making major research contributions."

Objects to Pact U.K., Argentina

WASHINGTON, (AP)— The United States has objected to Britain over sections of the British-Argentine economic agreement which, in the view of officials here, appear to violate promises Britain made in obtaining a $3,750,000,000 American loan.

The objections have already been expressed orally, officials said, and Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder plans to follow up with a letter to London asking for an explanation of one of the financial provisions in the accord.

Mr. Snyder, who is empowered by congress to making certain the British-American loan agreement is carried out, will call attention to a provision in the British-Argentine pact which prevents Argentina from spending blocked sterling where she desires under certain circumstances.

This is a clause under which Britain promises to release some of the money it owes Argentina if Argentina purchases more from Britain and sterling bloc countries than it sells to them.

American officials expressed belief this violates a pledge that Britain will permit all such freed sterling to be converted into any type of currency a country may wish.

United States officials acknowledged that, judging from pre-war trade figures, this clause might never become operative. Nevertheless, they felt such clauses would be harmful to trade as a whole if inserted in later agreements which Britain intends to negotiate with other countries.

Newspaper 'Ads' Continue to Lead

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—Newspapers still are the best advertising media in Canada, according to a report of the dominion bureau of statistics which, summarizing the activities of 47 advertising agencies in 1945, reveals that of the total billings 63.5 percent represented advertising in newspapers, magazines and other printed matter.

Radio advertising accounted for only 19.6 percent of the billings while the remaining 14.8 percent represented advertising expenditures in other media.

The survey covered agencies of the type which contract for space, radio or other advertising media and which place the advertising for clients on a commission or fee basis.

The total billings for 1945 reported by these agencies amounted to $42,471,233 an increase of 15 percent over the $36,944,785 reported by 41 agencies in 1944, and 45.5 percent over the figure reported by 49 agencies in 1941.

Agencies whose annual billings amounted to over $2,500,000 reported 62.2 percent of their billings for advertising in various types of publications.

U. S. World Flight Scheme Postponed

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The United States army Wednesday pigeon-holed temporarily its plan for a world-girdling flight of Superforts, thus laying away a "big stick" at a time of Soviet-American tension.

Officials familiar with the developments, however, said the flight will be carried out in the not-too-distant future, with tacit—if not formal—approval of the state department.

Wednesday's decision followed some confused manoeuvring between the state and war departments.

The state department had been concerned over the matter, partly because of its fear that the flight would bring fresh charges of "sabre rattling" from other countries, particularly Russia.

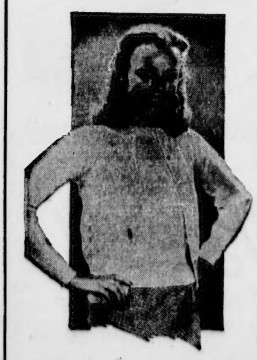

Also some department officials resent what they regarded as a post-war encroachment by both army and navy on their prerogative of charting American foreign policy. They regard the projected flight—announced without state department notification—as the latest of these intrusions.

Under-Production

Officials of the prices board say it will be a couple of weeks before they can decide whether or not butter rations will have to be cut for the winter season. Production and consumption have been and are nearly balanced at present. The reserve supplies are too small.

On the present scale every person is entitled to eat an ounce of butter each weekday if he goes without any on Sunday. That is skimpy enough, making any allowance for butter used in cooking—and other kinds of shortening are as scarce as water in a desert. Next to five, or four, ounces per week would border on absurdity.

But, if it comes this won't be the fault of the ration system or the rationing officials. They don't make butter. They only figure out how much each person can get from the amount that is produced in factories and on farms. And since they have to figure ahead until next April or May, they have to play safe and not set the ration allowance too high. Else there might be a butter famine about February or March.

The root of the trouble is that not enough butter is being made in Canada, not nearly enough, because not enough milk is being produced. That is one branch of enterprise which offers an opportunity for large expansion, more employment of labor, more investment of capital. Dairy farming is not keeping pace with the demand for products.

A Weird Argument

Before the judicial committee of the privy council, which is presently enquiring into Canada's right to abolish appeals to it, counsel for the attorney-general of Ontario has presented this extraordinary argument;

He declares that the privy council or any other "court in England is not subject to any force that can be applied by the parliament of Canada." Or, as Lord Macmillan summed it up, "Even though the parliament of Canada are masters in their own house, they still cannot legislate extra-territorially."

All this is doubtless true. The Canadian parliament, sovereign in Canada, has no right whatsoever over any English court. But how can that truth, by any stretch of the imagination, be made to deprive Canada of the right to abolish Canadian appeals to the privy council?

Obviously, the Canadian parliament cannot prohibit the privy council from hearing these appeals. But, quite as obviously, the Canadian parliament, being sovereign in this country, can prohibit Canadians from carrying appeals to that tribunal.

Everything being considered, the right of appeal to the privy council in constitutional matters is doubtless a valuable privilege.

Some of the finest judicial brains in the Empire, completely aloof from all the political implications and interests of any case, are made accessible for the consideration of some of our most difficult constitutional problems. This is particularly valuable when a flood of matters concerning federal-provincial rights are bound to fall into litigation. Here in a court, then, which cannot conceivably be even subconsciously prejudiced for either Dominion or provinces.

But if to maintain our valuable right of appeal to this distinguished body it were necessary to rob the Canadian parliament of its sovereign rights or even to cast the shadow of doubt on those rights, it would be far better to let appeals to the privy council go completely by the board.

No judicial process or privilege is worth quite so much as the unchallenged freedom and independence of the Canadian people.

Safety Comes First

Canada and Russia are in agreement in the Assembly of the United Nations in calling for a "diminishing of armaments" all round the world. They are not acting in concert, and seem to differ as to procedure, but the object is the same.

There is no reason to suppose that the government or people of any country on earth is opposed to this, or is even neutral on the question. There is not simply the probability that a disarmed world would be less likely to become involved in war than an armed world. The very practical reason is that armaments are costing more than mankind can afford to spend on them.

And the equally plain fact that if the United Nations do what their Charter requires them to do no country will need more than a fraction of the armament it now maintains. There is glaring inconsistency in the spectacle of nations remaining heavily armed while they are pledged to co-operate to prevent armed conflict.

One thing is clear. There will be no reduction of armaments unless it is an all-round reduction, sponsored, supervised and directed by the United Nations organization. There can be no return to the suicidal procedure under the League of Nations, when one country scrapped battleships while another was building them. That isn't good enough to fool anybody who understands how World War II came about.

Universal disarmament or reduction of armaments is plain sense. But it can only be achieved if the United Nations organization is empowered to send inspectors into every country and to demand full publicity in military matters from every government. Only so could there be confidence that armament-reduction promises were being kept. No country will again trust the others blindly. Hitler has not been forgotten yet.

They Also Served

The wit of man never did devise anything perfect, and even the rehabilitation of Canadian war veterans is perhaps no more than the "closest yet." The various schemes deserve all the praise bestowed on them, and yet we read and see each for himself the exceptional cases that prove the rule. But the cries of those "exceptional cases" deserve a better fate than falling on deaf ears.

Editorial correspondence columns receive many complaints about preference of volunteers with overseas service over volunteers for general service whose qualifications were sufficiently indispensable in Canada that they were kept here. Dismissed immediately may be the case of the volunteer for general service who so planned his career, to the extent that it was within his power, that he would sleep in his own bed at home every night for the "duration."

But consider the case of a soldier, physically fit and willing to serve anywhere and in any arm as a "general service" implies, but afflicted with some special talent which made him indispensable at a training centre, a district depot or some such in Canada. With five years of such service he has, upon discharge, a gratuity of $450 and a re-establishment credit in a like sum. Another, neither more nor less eager to serve outside Canada, but with five years such service has earned a gratuity of $1,239.50 and a re-establishment credit of $900.

From the sentimental citizen's point of view this is all it should be, and it is not suggested that it ought to be changed, or that it is grossly unfair. If every case were to be considered on its merits it might require the setting up of a tribunal that would sit continuously from now until the next war. But it does illustrate how many a willing man's luck was worse even than he thought when one draft after another sailed without him.

Quoting from these columns on the irony of President Truman's Hollywood double getting paid more with the presidency, The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix adds "less publicity, too." Well, in the case of this much-photographed president, we're not prepared to go that far.

But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. — I, Samuel 16.7.

No World for Many

By Dorothy Thompson

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

It is sobering to think of how satirical is the phrase "one world," so repeatedly uttered in the meetings of the United Nations Assembly, when compared with the dolorous realities of the life of man.

For no man today is there one world. The world is divided into compartments all but hermetically sealed against entrance or exit. While we talk of the unity of mankind, each separate member of mankind has to wear the brand, as it were, of a certain rank, called a national state, in the shape of a piece of paper, called "passport," which is his permission to try, if he can, to move in one world.

THOMPSON

To get from one ranch to another he has to have permission first to exit, then he must have permission of other ranch managers to enter another estate, and he is asked a great many questions, one of which is always whether he has the only prerequisite of the opportunity to earn money outside the compartment where born, is to possess it already.

He may not enter the United States, for example, except as a certain number of persons belonging to the same nationality may have entered it previously, thus establishing a "quota". The quota has no relation to himself, as a person, but he may be healthy, industrious, possessed of useful skills, and passionately believing in democracy, but he is checked against the number of predecessors of his nationality, and that is determinant even if his nation has ceased to exist. Men no longer travel. Pieces of paper travel: the human being is attached to the paper, not the paper to the man. And no passport says: "Place of origin? The world!"

Recently there arrived on American shores three 36- to 38-foot sloops, which had negotiated the North Sea, the Channel, and the Atlantic Ocean from the coast of Sweden. These sloops contain 48 creatures of the recognized genus "human" of both sexes, chiefly men, and three small children. They are a sea captain, engineer, watchmaker, tailor, silversmith, seamen —very able seamen, obviously—farmers—but not a single atom fisionist.

However, they had no proper stamps on paper, and the hundred and seventeen or so permissible pieces of paper had already entered before them.

So they stayed in their sloops off Miami, until advised to shoo to some other part of one world or be arrested and deported back to Sweden.

They are Estonians who had left Sweden because of others who had tried to test the one world out there. These had been 167 Latvians, Estonians and Lithuanians, who, forcibly drafted into the German army, had deserted, and fled to Sweden in uniforms, where they were interned. The new manager who had taken the old Baltic range over wanted them back.

But from what they knew of the last two managements at home they preferred the relative freedom and security of a Swedish internment camp. When the USSR threatened to cut off Sweden's coal supply and locked the entry mean, they were told to depart, whereupon several chose to go to a far, far better one world and killed themselves, while the rest went on a hunger strike until delivered to hospitals. Then the Swedish government demurred they were too ill to move, and the Soviets solicitously sent a hospital ship in which they were transported to Riga where they were publicly hanged as a lesson that a forcibly inducted soldier is a collaborator, and emigration a crime.

These other Estonians took note and departed in their little boats. So here they are, a national problem, since none is an expert on V-bombs, and President Truman has done a most radical and remarkable thing, because it is reasonable and decent, in suggesting some measure be adopted to allow them to live.

There are half a dozen countries in the United Nations with less population than that of the concentration camps in the British, French, and American European zones, whose only "crime" is to have scratched off the brand-mark of a nativity. These mavericks have dared test the theory of one world by refusing allegiance to the governors of the specific compartment wherein born. One could think that the rejected governments would say good riddance, but no. Everything is complicated by the fact that they demand their unwilling brothers back, to be put in the properly located concentration camp, or grave. For if we can't live in the proper compartment of one world, we can at least be buried in it.

Oh, they must think, for the life of a swallow!—which no one ever promised freedom from want or fear, but which has the first freedom: freedom to move and change!

As it is, those humans who have tested the one world theory in practice are looking for another planet.

NEW YORK—The very first words uttered at the United Nations Assembly phrased a strong plea for selection of New York City as the permanent world organization headquarters. President Truman also assumed in his speech that there was to be no further argument about the continental location.

There is therefore a sort of bracket on the decision that the Assembly will make about the permanent site of the world parliament-to-be. It is clear on the one hand that the U. S. would resent and fight with all its power any move to take the capital back to Geneva, or anywhere else in Europe. But it is equally clear on the other hand that the vast majority of the people who have to attend UN meetings will strongly object to the present location.

The main building itself is excellent. It is situated on the World's Fair grounds on Long Island; is modern in every way, and has the last word in equipment for the job it does. It is only a stone's throw from New York itself. That, and here is the catch. For all the thousands of people forced to attend UN in the line of duty are scattered in every nook and corner of the metropolis. It is difficult—well nigh impossible—to round up any two of them in a hurry. It is equally difficult for newspapermen and others to get to and away from the Long Island centre.

Thus on every hand one hears kicks, "they had things far better arranged in San Francisco." Every real-and-timers of international conferences there are echoes of faint tones of a backed Geneva move.

Canadians are especially critical of the arrangements here, for their own family press conferences were one of the most useful features at San Francisco. Each morning at nine we had a sort of Canadian family party—usually presided over by the genial Mike Pearson, then ambassador to Washington, and now deputy minister of external affairs. Our delegation gave the story of what was going on—often not for publication.

On the other hand the newspapermen were able to give to the delegation the public reaction to the doings. The very questions asked were the key of public interest in any given matter.

How to get to the Biltmore Hotel, where our Canadian delegation is staying, newspapermen have to come by taxi from all over town. That means that the press conferences just don't click.

To get from downtown New York to the UN Assembly building you take a taxi to the railway station, walk long distances down to train level, take the train itself and then take after you detrain. It is bad enough for us who are native North Americans, but one can imagine how it is for people from faraway countries who may speak English only with difficulty. And how to explain why there will be the strongest kind of demand to move UN to some spot in America where it isn't so much of a physical endurance feat to get to the work centre.

One of our Canadian ministers was telling me today of another problem raised by the new activities of the international field. Even a relatively strong nation like Canada has trouble finding all the peoples to go off on the various top-level jobs that now have to be done. Our own Canadian national business came to a near standstill

CIVIC ELECTION

Editor, Bulletin:—With due respect and courtesy to my nominators, this public statement is made

Your report re rejection of my personal nomination form for the Mayoralty on the ground that I lack proper qualifications, is incorrect.

For your information and the city of Edmontons' our home and address is located at 11204 70th street. On these grounds I protest the forthcoming mayoralty election and shall govern myself accordingly.

To a man and woman who are young "Old Timers" and taxpayers of twenty years standing who have raised one of their large family—born and raised here—still residing here with their families; the smallness of the technicalities governing such elections beggar the powers of description and vocabulary.

Should there be any fellow citizens of Edmonton desiring public meetings of protest, be assured of my hearty support—to the end in view.

Truth and Justice before Legality.

THE JUKE BOX

Editor, Bulletin — On different occasions I have become highly amused by your tirades against the juke box and have often wondered how you get that way.

Last week I was in the city for a few days, and before sitting down in a cafe I usually put a nickle in the juke box and am regaled by the popular music of the day, which gives added festivity to my holiday in the city.

Now, for all your bias, I am willing to bet that most of the country people who come up on a visit, like the juke box, which is generally missed in the smaller communities around here. I was brought up on classical music, I can still appreciate the music of the common every day man. And so I would say to you and others who have the same prejudice to this form of music, seek out some other restaurants — they are numerous — where your ears will not be offended by the juke; for remember what is one man's poison is often another man's meat, and leave us humble individuals to enjoy the form of music we like best.

OLDTIMER

The Road Ahead

By Harper Prowse, M.L.A.

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

It seemed obvious to ask in Dawson Creek, the end of steel and beginning of the actual Alaska Highway, what effect the "American invasion" had on the district, the town and the people. There were effects. Some of them good, some not so good, others difficult, at this short distance, to estimate accurately.

In the first place it brought prosperity. Not only did farmers get higher prices for their produce, as farmers all over the country did, but many of them found lucrative employment with the Americans on the highway, building camps, and around the camps. The result, in fact many who before the war were living a rather precarious existence are today in a comfortable financial situation. Their farms are clear of debt and they have been able to make important additions to their holdings, to improve their buildings and equipment.

The Americans ran a pipeline 16 miles from Cutbank river to supply water for their camp. Today this has been purchased by the Dominion government and supplies the town. Although the town was served with electricity before the Americans came, the plant that served the American camps has now been made available to serve the town, insuring better and more adequate service.

The highway too has been a godsend to the entire district and northwest. The importance of it will become more obvious as time goes on. That part of the highway which is under the control of the Alberta and British Columbia governments is not in particularly good shape and parts of it are just plain bad. The main highway is rough and washboardy in places, and there are sections which cross muskegs which require constant attention, but generally speaking it is in good shape. Plans are to improve it throughout.

So much for the positive side of the picture. On the other hand there were other aspects of the "invasion" which are not so attractive. There were a number of people who found that bootlegging, gambling and vice provided easy money—and lots of it. The fact that the Americans had a lot of money to spend, and not many useful ways to spend it, made this almost inevitable. To the best of my knowledge, all traces of this part of the "invasion" have vanished.

However, the fact that the work was being done on a "cost plus" or "get it done, let somebody else worry about paying for it" basis, inflated values on everything from land to labor. Money which came easily went the same way, and there were many people who frittered away their big wages and have nothing to show for it today. Some of them still think the wages they received then, and the values in vogue, were normal, and these people constitute a worry to the more responsible citizenry.

Enlistments from this northern country were particularly high, higher than any other part of Canada. People don't talk up here about the young men who went away but the very exceptional few who remained at home. These few haven't had a particularly pleasant time. However the veterans coming home are finding that the inflated values are making it difficult for them to obtain suitable farms, and this tends to create some bitterness. This cannot be blamed on anybody, but nevertheless, it is a fact which remains, and about which little, if anything can be done.

Men who before the war might have been content to slave on the soil for years before it produced an adequate living for them, look at their neighbors and naturally find it difficult to face the fact that they have missed out on the "good times" with the future offering little except hard work for the next 10 years at least. But they are accepting this, even if they aren't particularly happy about it.

In the long run I believe the benefits of the "invasion" will far outweigh the disadvantages and problems it brought with it.

Dummy Funnels

Regina Leader-Post

That the number of funnels carried by a ship is no index to size and power is dramatically illustrated by the Queen Elizabeth, world's largest passenger liner.

The two-funnel structure is the chief distinguishing mark between the Queen Elizabeth and her three-funnel sister ship the "Queen Mary." Other great ocean liners, notably the Aquitania and old Mauretania, sported four funnels each.

Because of popular misconception funnel competition became so keen at one time that ships were fitted with dummy funnels simply to outstrip their rivals—at least in the public mind. The added funnels were sometimes used as ventilators.

Twenty and thirty years ago, it became almost impossible to certain European cities to book passengers on a single funnel ship. Travel agents resorted to incnious dodges. One of the most popular was the assurance that the single funnel ship remained that way only in port; at sea an additional funnel was hoisted. Other gullible landsmen were convinced that really modern one-funnel ships had most of their funnels under water.

THE CHALLENGE

Hamilton Spectator

Poor timing can make even important things look trivial. We think this is the case of the flag tumult. The time is here when a more constructive effort has to be put up by statemanship, than that of tussles over an emblem. A flag will not unite Canada; only a new spirit and a flag will honor and vindicate can do that. The challenge to those who represent the people of Canada at Ottawa is to nurture that spirit and give it life. Then we can worry about a flag.

Judge Halts Check Of Firm's Records

VANCOUVER, (CP) — A police search of offices of United Distilleries Limited here for documents detectives said might afford evidence in a perjury case, was halted by a court order Wednesday when validity of the warrant was challenged.

Chief Justice Farris, who criticized the warrant, granted an application of F. A. Sheppard, company solicitor, for an order that it be brought into supreme court and the rights of the police to act under it argued in chambers Nov. 8. He said the scope of the warrant was "startling, to say the least."

Police searched the distillery offices Tuesday in connection with the international investigation of liquor export sales to the United States. Some documents were seized.

Supt. Walter Mulligan, chief of the criminal investigation bureau, said the search was for "documents that may afford evidence in connection with charges of perjury against Robert Brocken and Oswald Thomas."

The men, remanded until Friday for hearing, were charged with perjury in connection with the printing of export price lists submitted to the O.P.A. in the United States.

"I do not think an offence against two individuals outside of the business justifies a search warrant exposing all the documents of a company to public view," said Chief Justice Farris.

"A man's home is his castle and his private affairs should be sacred to him, but all that could be destroyed by going before a justice of the peace and getting a wide-open search warrant such as this."

Finds Need 'Dire' Except for Rich

THE HAGUE, (CP)—Health Minister Brooke Claxton Wednesday told reporters that his tour of Canadian missions in Europe had shown him dire need exists generally on the continent but "in central points it is possible for the wealthy to eat well."

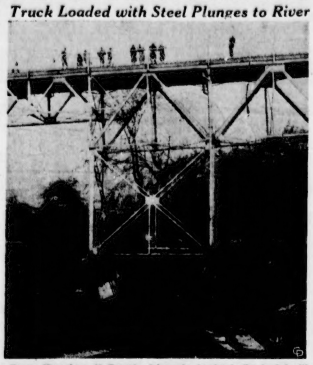

Mr. Claxton, who arrived here Tuesday, went to London Thursday for discussions with British authorities before attending the opening session of the world health organization's interim commission at Geneva in November.

He leaves for home on the Queen Elizabeth Nov. 7.

The Canadian health minister said that despite increased production industrial production "you can buy in Brussels, Geneva and even Rome, goods which are very scarce in Canada."

Later Mr. Claxton visited the Canadian war cemetery at Nijmegen, Holland—scene of a bloody battle in which Canadian troops drove back the Germans. He placed a wreath and said: "We shall always think of the graves of Canadian soldiers here as part of Canada."

Truck Loaded with Steel Plunges to River

George Humphrys, 46, Toronto, driver of a tractor-trailer loaded with eight tons of steel, plunged to his death when the vehicle tore out 90 feet of guard rail on the bridge of The Rouge river and burst into flames when it fell 90 feet into the water below. Spectators said his arms covered his face as if he were fighting flames when he perished. Humphrys, veteran of two wars and father of four, was bound for Kingston.

Abbott Sees Need To Keep Controls

VICTORIA, (CP)— Sudden removal of all wartime price controls would be "fatal" during the period through which Canada now is passing, Defence Minister Abbott told the Canadian club here Wednesday.

"Most of us would lose the benefits of all that was done, throughout the war years and during this first year of peace, to stabilize the cost of living."

He outlined some of Canada's financial and economic problems, and said government expenditures are bound to be substantially higher than before the war, no matter what party may be in power. Every effort was being made and will continue to be made to eliminate unnecessary expenditures.

Earlier Mr. Abbott said Canada now has recruited about 70 percent of the authorized peacetime navy of 10,000 officers and ratings, and about 14,000 of the peacetime army of 25,000.

The navy force will ultimately be distributed roughly half on each coast.

He told the Canadian club members that a high standard of living was dependent on efficient production, in turn dependent on Canada having access to foreign markets.

Income from Canadian products sold abroad was the most important single factor in determining Canada's employment and prosperity.

"No country has a greater stake in the establishment and maintenance of stable international trading relations than Canada."

New U.S. Strikes Threaten; Prepare to Talk with Lewis

NEW YORK, (AP) — New threats of strikes appeared on the United States industrial front Thursday as government officials mapped plans to confer with John L. Lewis Friday, hopeful of averting a strike by 400,000 soft coal miners.

The officials who are to meet with the president of the United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) said they are willing to discuss anything Mr. Lewis brings up, but they have not agreed to reopen the present contract. Mr. Lewis won a meeting with the government after he implied there would be a coal strike Nov. 1 unless wage negotiations were reopened.

The government seized the mines last May during a 59-day strike by the miners.

More Strikes Threaten

In Chicago there was a threat of a shutdown of operations at the big stockyards, making idle 25,000 workers, while in Detroit officials of Ford local 600 of the United-Auto Workers (C.I.O.) said they soon would file with the National Labor Relations board a 30-day strike notice against the Ford Motor company covering 70,000 workers at the company's Rouge plant.

After a new outbreak of fighting between pickets and police at the strike-bound Allis Chalmers Manufacturing company plant in West Allis, Wis., Mayor Klentz appealed to Labor Secretary Schwellenbach to have the company and United Auto Workers resume negotiations in an effort to settle the six-months-old dispute.

In the 11-day old strike by 1,400 A.F.L. pilots against Trans-World Airlines in a wage dispute, Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglass expressed hopes of bringing the disputants together.

Two Strikes Delayed

Two strikes scheduled to start Thursday were delayed. In New York the threatened walkout by 7,000 Western Union Telegraph company employes was averted a few hours before the 12:01 A.M. deadline, by an agreement to extend the present contract to April 1, 1947, and for employes to receive wage hikes.

The maritime strike, already settled on the gulf and Atlantic coasts, appeared scheduled for long duration on the west coast. Harry Bridges, co-chairman of the Committee for Maritime Unity, said west coast maritime unions, already out for a month, had prepared for a "long-drawn-out strike."

'Second World War' Suggested as Name

LONDON, (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Wednesday in the commons that Britain had no official name for the 1939-45 war, but suggested that the phrase "Second World War" was likely to be generally adopted."

"Are you aware," asked T. C. Sheffington-Lodge, Labor, "that the use of the term 'Second World War' presupposes there might be another, and wouldn't it be better to take a risk and call it the last world war?"

Amid laughter, Mr. Attlee replied, "So far as I know, there was a first and second Punic (Rome-Carthage) war and not a third."

Impartial Basis Education Asked

SASKATOON, (CP) — Religious instruction should be divorced from education, social work, relief and other ameliorative measures carried on among Indians, the executive of the Union of Saskatchewan Indians said Wednesday in a brief submitted to the union's convention here.

"Education should be upon a high and impartial basis, with academic learning as its principal object rather than religious instruction. This organization is of the opinion that religious instruction for Indians should be upon a voluntary basis as it is for other pupils, in order that the Indians may be permitted to choose according to their own conscience the religion which they desire to embrace," the brief said.

"Though parochial schools have contributed much to the education of Indians, the time has come when it is necessary to separate education from religion in order that the fullest time and energy may be devoted to the former and in order that the principle of freedom of religion and of conscience may become meaningful for the Indian."

It recommended abolition of parochial schools and the substitution of interdenominational public schools.

Appreciating the contribution of religious organizations to the welfare of the Indians, the brief criticized "the practice of such organizations which make the granting of benefits contingent upon the acceptance of one or another of the white man's faiths." It recommended that all social work be done on a nonsectular basis.

Establishment of a commission to study the Indian educational system was urged.

Italian Socialists Unite With Reds

ROME, (ONA) — Under the terms of their new unity pact, the Italian Socialists and Communists, now seen as the largest single political bloc in Italy, have delivered a major political blow to Britain and American efforts to control this strategic Mediterraneun outpost, according to best informed circles in Rome.

It has been no secret that since the fall of Fascism in Italy the hope of the British was to isolate the Communist movement in Italy and to mould the Italian Socialist Party along anti-Communist and British Labor party lines.

The hope came close to fruition last spring when divisions within the Italian Socialist party threatened to oust Pietro Nenni, Socialist party leader and minister without portfolio, and divert the party movement into anti-Communist channels.

The pressure on the Socialists has continued, however, and that pressure was increased by the reported decision of Secretary of State Byrnes to throw the weight of the United States behind the right-wing Socialists and thus to give birth in Italy to a conservative Socialist government which would be securely tied to the Anglo-American bloc against Russia.

Crowd of 5,685 Sees Edmonton Cop Opener 9-3

Showing more polish in passing and in finishing, Edmonton Flyers proceeded to crush Lethbridge Maple Leafs 9-3 in the opening game of the Western Hockey League here Wednesday night. Paid attendance was 5,685.

Flyers weren't dawdling at any stage, but they certainly went to work on Andy Young in a hurry, being two goals up in slightly over three minutes and never relinquishing the lead from there out.

CLOSEST Sweeney Schriner's club ever got to Riley Mullen's crew was in the middle period when Bing Juckes' tally from ex-Stampeder Joe Fisher left them trailing only 4-3. But Edmonton pushed in two more before that session ended and then shoved in three more without reply in the final stretch.

Bing Merluk, who started at right wing along with Elmer Kreller in centre and Freddy Smitten on the left boards, scored three times and assisted in another goal, the other Flyer tallies being evenly divided amongst Kreller, Smitten, Bill Pettinger, Don Stanley, Ab Newsome and Stan Devicq, Kreller had three assists and should have had another, while Stanley also set up three goals.

Love, Juckes and Harrison split the Lethbridge goals. Flyers outshot the Leafs 28-24, holding a 14 to 10 edge in the second period.

THE GAME was just over a minute old when on a three-way play with Smitten, Kreller slipped a pass over to Merluk as they swung across the Leaf blue line and Merluk went around to the right of the Lethbridge defence, before cutting in toward the goal.

Pettinger made it 2-0 a couple of minutes later when he was camped in front of the Leaf goalie to whip in Stanley's pass from the corner.

A BOARDING penalty to Lake preceded the next Flyer goal, Smitten going in close and driving the puck between Young's pads at 7:12. Watt was given credit for the assist, but it seemed from the press box that Kreller was overlooked.

Bob Love took Stanley Ouellet out of the Flyer goal for Lethbridge's first tally midway in the period, but the Edmonton defence combination got it back in a minute, Kreller leaving the Lethbridge defence standing still as he went in.

With nobody paying much attention to defensive tactics, Harrison was was left uncovered in front of the Edmonton cage and scored at 12:20.

THE SECOND period provided the best hockey and the most sustained attack, the shots being ranked even with the best displays seen in the arena last season. Juckes scored from Merluk and Kreller, and Newsome from Stanley left Flyers up 6-3.

A perfect pass from Kreller set up Merluk in the third quarter, and Devicq's backhand from Stanley meant another. Stanley took Devicq's relay and drove a high shot past Young for the last counter.

Lineups:

Lethbridge: Goal: Van Daele; Luke; Love; Juckes, Fisher. Subs, Latoski, Hall, Negrette, Harrison, McCain, Sloan, Rimstad, Gray.

Edmonton: McAuley; Watt, Pettinger; Kreller; Merluk, Smitten. Subs, Stanley, Devicq, Thomas, Newsome, Barker, Solinger, Dutchak.

Officials: referee, Reg (Pep) Moon; linesmen, Cam Smith and Bob Hixby.

Summary:

First period: 1—Edmonton, Merluk (Kreller, Smitten) 1:17; 2—Edmonton, Pettinger (Stanley) 3:06; 3—Edmonton, Smitten (Watt) 7:12. 4—Lethbridge, Love (Juckes) 10:47; 5—Edmonton, Kreller (Merluk) 11:20; 6—Lethbridge, Harrison (Hall) 12:20. Penalties—Lake, Smithai, Juckes, Barber.

Second period: 7 — Lethbridge, Juckes (Fisher) 12:54; 8—Edmonton, Merluk (Kreller) 13:56. 9—Edmonton, Newsome (Stanley) 19:52.

Third period: 10—Edmonton, Merluk (Kreller) 7:00. 11—Edmonton, Devicq (Stanley) 9:35; 12—Edmonton, Devicq (Devicq) 10:25. Penalty — Solinger.

AFTER THE GAME—Riley Mullen's Edmonton Flyers weren't displeased over their brilliant 9-3 opening job at the expense of Lethbridge Maple Leafs Wednesday, and were inclined to consider it as "all in a night's work." Campbell Dinner Guest in N.Y.

NEW NHL HEAD TO REVIEW SYSTEM GRANTING AWARDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Clarence S. Campbell, president of the National Hockey League said Wednesday night at a dinner in his honor that the League will review the system under which annual awards to players are made.

He said some changes may be made in the method of selecting the winners of the Calder Memorial Trophy for the best rookie, the Hart Trophy for the most valuable player and the Lady Byng Trophy for the most sportsmanlike player.

THESE AWARDS are now made after a poll of hockey writers in league cities.

He indicated the selection process for the fourth award,' the Vezina Trophy for the league goalie with the least number of goals against him, would be altered.

"The Vezina Trophy is a matter of pure mathematics," Campbell said.

THE PRESIDENT suggested that a possible alternative would be a hockey writers association with chapters in each hockey centre, including all active hockey writers covering the NHL.

"I'm not sure at present just what we will do," Campbell said. "It probably won't take place this season anyhow."

SASKATOON, Oct. 31—(CP)—Saskatoon Elks romped to an 8-4 victory over Regina Capitals here last night in one of two games which opened the Western Canada Senior League's 1946-47 schedule.

FOUR POINTS: Bing Merluk was travelling in high right from the start of Referee "Pep" Moon's opening whistle last night. Three goals an assist and a fine exhibition of passing with Elmer Kreller were his contribution to the Flyer victory.

The Caps, tail-enders last year in the circuit which provided the west with an Allan Cup winner in the persons of Calgary Stampeders, had a 3-2 margin at the end of the first period but the Elks took command thereafter and never were seriously threatened.

THE SASKATOON squad added four counters in the middle period to the Caps' one and finished up with a brace in the final while blanking the visitors.

Chuck Taylor of Regina and Bill Jenkins of the Elks led the scorers with two each. The other Caps' goals went to Toby Brown and Chuck McCullough and Dave Livingstone, Dede Klein, Billy Brennan, Cy Rouse, Porky Hulme and Glenn Richardson added the remaining Saskatoon counters.

PORKY HULME raised Elks' lead to four goals near the half mark in the final period when he broke away from a Regina attack while Fern and Fischer were serving major penalties for fighting. When the fighters returned Richardson scored Elks' eighth goal on a play with Hulme at 12:48. Caps used five forwards in the last five minutes but failed to score.

Linups:

Regina: Francis; Edwards, Fischer; Wiest, Hauck, Taylor, Subs, Grinke, Rheault, McCullough, Stareson, Barrett, Brown, Sanderson, Ludgate.

Saskatoon: W. Brennan; Richardson, Cairns; Hulme, Livingstone, Lubrew. Subs, Klein, Fenn, Jenkins, Buttrey, Rouse, Sloboda, Goble, J. Brennan, Fairweather.

Bert Robertson Rink In Two Semi-Finals

Bert Robertson's Granite rink continued undefeated in the Granite Curling Club's first annual bonspiel, being played this week at the South Side rink, Wednesday and has reached the semi-finals in two main events—the Autumn and the Granite.

Robertson made it six straight on the early draw yesterday morning and gained a semi-final berth in the Granite competition by knocking over John Melnyk's University curlers 11-8.

Others to enter the fours of the Granite were Fred Veilleux's Granite crew and Stan Yakabuski's Toffield quartet. Veilleux knocked over the strong Bill Gray for 9-6 and Yakabuski trimmed Dr. Keillor's Granite curlers by the same score to enter the semi-finals. P. R. Thompson, also of the Granite, was already out in the fours of this event.

Semi-finalists in the Autumn competition were named the previous day. They are: Bert Robertson, H. O. Ritchie, S. Easton and Bert Ross.

Only one extra-end game was recorded during Wednesday's play. That was a match in the Seller competition between Bill Mowbray of the Thistle and Veilleux. The Mowbray rink counted one on the 11th to win 9-8.

HERE HE IS: Dave (Sweeney) Schriner probably wasn't any too happy over the 9-3 deal handed his Lethbridge Leafs by Flyers Wednesday night, but the above picture doesn't prove it. I expected the big ice surface would bother the boys, but they weren't even skating. And say, those Flyers just walked around our defence." However, the great ex-Toronto Leaf-New York American goal-getter doesn't seem to discourage easily. "We'll be in there next time," he said just before the above after-the-game shot was taken.

Canadian Plants Roar Again As Wave of Strikes Ends

TORONTO, (CP) — The roar of big machines, the white smoke plumes from factory chimneys and the lines of workmen moving in and out of plant gates Thursday signified the virtual end of the wave of labor strife that at its peak left close to 40,000 workers idle in a score of industrial establishments.

The industrial strife, coming just as the reconstruction program started to hit its stride, struck the housing, automobile manufacturing and electrical equipment programs a body blow.

Stemming mainly from the drive by Canadian Congress of Labor unions, most of them C.I.O. affiliates, for higher wages and shorter hours, strikes closed most of Ontario's major factories and put their workers off the payroll and on the picket line.

Settle for Less

Wage settlements were generally less than the union's original demands but they meant upwards of a dollar a day more in pay envelopes, with vacation concessions.

The strikes which affected the largest number of workers paralyzed the steel, rubber and electrical industries. Others dropped the output of chemicals, brass products and, later wood products.

The 81-day steel strike involved 5,000 workers at Algoma Steel Corporation plant in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and about 2,500 at Two Hamilton plants of Steel Company of Canada, along with Dominion Steel and Coal Company's 4,000 workers at Sydney, N.S.

13 Cents Is Basis

The steel strikers settled for an increase of 10 cents an hour retroactive to April 1 plus an additional three cents an hour when they went back to work.

Thirteen cents plus shift bonuses sent striking rubber workers back to work. At its peak the rubber strike made approximately 9,000 workers idle in 10 of Ontario's 13 rubber plants. The original demand was 20-cents-an-rour increase and a 40-hour week.

The electrical strike, for a pay boost of 25 cents an hour and a 40-hour week, closed plants in Hamilton, Toronto, Welland and Leaside and involved 6,700 workers. Here, too, the general settlement pattern was 13 cents, but it went higher in some plants such as Canada Wire and Cable in Leaside which settled on a schedule of 14½ to 24 cents.

Auto Plant Resumes

Some 4,000 Chrysler Corporation of Canada strikers in Windsor and Chatham settled for a 13-16 cents wage increase and the Rand formula of union security.

Striking northern Ontario bush-workers—the Lumber and Sawmill Workers union (A.F.L.) said they numbered 10,000; the camp operators said they were comparatively few—gained practically all the objectives in their 10-day walkout: union recognition, $5 a day minimum wage plus board, and single beds instead of double-decks.

The bushmen's settlement, like the one at Canada Wire and Cable, still must be ratified by the union membership.

The most troublesome strike of all—that at the Brunner Mond chemical plant at Amherstburg, Ont.—involved only 400 workers but it cut off the supply of soda ash, essential to the manufacture of glass, soap, pulp and paper, aluminum, nickel and base metal processing, before it was settled after about three months.

Pioneer Departmental Store Is Marking Diamond Jubilee

Cecil S. Sutherland, vice-president and managing director of Johnstone Walker Ltd., which is marking its Diamond Jubilee this week. The business was founded here in 1886 by the late W. Johnstone Walker. Mr. Sutherland joined the firm in May, 1896.

Glamor and romance are linked with the brilliant pages of mercantile history written by the pioneer department store firm of Johnstone Walker Ltd. which this week marks the Diamond Jubilee anniversary of its founding.

Marching with Edmonton as this city won its way to commercial ascendancy in northwest Canada, the Johnstone Walker firm has a splendid record of expansion.

Linked with Edmonton since 1886, the old village store on Fraser ave., now 98 st., has grown to the full maturity of a metropolitan departmental enterprise. At first, it occupied 1,600 square feet. Now that has been multiplied forty-fold.

It was the vision and faith of its founder, the late W. Johnstone Walker, that brought this store to Edmonton. Those tenets were carried on by Cecil S. Sutherland, who has directed the business since Mr. Johnstone Walker retired in 1902 and died 10 years later.

Joined Firm in 1896

Mr. Sutherland, now vice-president and managing director, joined the firm in 1896. Two years later he became general manager. He was 19 years old, undoubtedly the youngest store executive in Canada at that time.

The original store site was immediately east of where the Civic block stands. It was a small frame building.

Five years later, it was found advisable to seek a new site owing to the expanding volume of business. In 1891 it was decided to move to Jasper ave. which was coming into prominence as a main business artery. The business was established in the building which now houses the Power-Loney store.

By 1902, still larger quarters were demanded for the growing business. Construction of the building which now is occupied by National Home Furnishers Ltd., was carried out, and subsequently additions were built.

After operating in this building for 13 years, it was decided to move westward, keeping abreast of the city's growth in that direction. In March, 1915, the business was transferred to the present location at the southeast corner of Jasper ave. and 102 st. Soon it was necessary to add a third storey and then an annex. Additional space was obtained in 1920 when a long lease was taken on the Heimick block, adjoining the main building.

Pioneer Spirit

As an example of the firm's part in Edmontons development, it is recalled that Mr. Johnstone Walker was associated with the first electric light company formed in Edmonton. Being a firm believer in public ownership, he gave his strong support when it was proposed to dispose of the company's holdings to the city. He was one of those chiefly instrumental in grinding about the sale and placing Edmonton under control of a public utility that has been highly profitable over a long period of years.

One of the features of the firm's record has been the continuity of service on the part of its employes. Out of 100 employes, seven have been with the company for more than 25 years.

The assistant manager is Sydney Sutherland, son of Mr. C. S. Sutherland, who was appointed to the post in the fall of 1945, after being overseas for six years with the Canadian forces.

Employe with the longest record of service is E. E. Davies, buyer of piece goods and staples, and a senior associate who has been in continuous service for 43 years.

Fred. Hollands, advertising manager and a member of the firm, is next in seniority of service. It is 35 years since he joined the company.

Marking its Diamond Jubilee with a brilliant record of achievement and community interest, Johnstone Walker Ltd. enters a new era fully confident that the next few years will see Edmonton in the full flush of new prosperity and progress, in which the firm will continue to play a loyal and vital role.

Anglo-Canadian Film Plan Blocked

By Basil Dean

LONDON, — Plans to produce Anglo-Canadian films in Vancouver on the model of "Forty Ninth Parallel" have fallen through.

This project had been planned by the British National Film company, an independent concern which recently has enjoyed a big success in Britain's movie theatres with its screen version of the famed Royal Canadian Navy show "Meet the Navy."

But to carry out the plan, it was necessary for the company to spend about $8,000,000 in Canadian funds erecting studios and installing necessary equipment. The British treasury, responsible for safeguarding this country's slender supply of Canadian dollars, has flatly refused to allow transfer of the necessary funds.

Lord Beaverbrook's Empire-conscious Evening Standard has attacked the treasury for what the newspaper terms "economic blindness." "The company", it says in an editorial "saw in Canada a country with a wealth of dramatic talent and the loveliest backgrounds that nature knows—in short a filmmakers paradise. Films made in Canada would return to Britain and whittle away some part of the $8,000,000 annual tribute which this country pays to Hollywood."

Treasury officials Wednesday refused to give reasons for the adverse decision, pointing out merely that everyone knows the dollar position is very tight and that $8,000,000 is a lot of money." Until the exchange position eases or the treasury changes its mind, that seems to be end of the matter.

Massey Collection To Tour Canada

By Kay Rex

OTTAWA, (CP) — A significant contribution to the annals of Canadian culture is the presentation of Massey collection of modern English painting to the national art gallery.

Governor-General Alexander, governor-general, and Viscountess Alexander Wednesday received 600 guests at the opening of the exhibition of the 75 famous paintings, collected by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, former Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom, during his 10 years of residence in London.

"This is one of the most valuable bequests the gallery has yet received," said H. O. McCurry, director. "The gift gives us the most outstanding collection of British paintings on the North American continent."

The collection will be on display here until the end of the year when it will be sent to cities throughout Canada wherever there are facilities to house the exhibit. Montreal probably will be the first to receive it. Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver also are included in the itinerary.

Art experts believe the collection should be of great value in Canada where necessarily there is no general familiarity with the principal currents of the contemporary English school.

"As a result of the present gift Canada is the only dominion where modern English painting can be properly studied and enjoyed on the spot," said John Rothenstein, director of the Tate Gallery in London, England, in a written commentary on the presentation.

'Elizabeth' Docks After Round Trip

SOUTHAMPTON, (CP) — The Queen Elizabeth glided into her home berth Thursday, on schedule to the minute, completing her first commercial round trip as the world's largest ocean liner and carrying 3,246 passengers and two stowaways—one of them from British Columbia.

The vessel completed the eastward crossing in five days and three hours.

On hand to greet the Queen Elizabeth was Mrs. Kingsley Foster, British wife of a former soldier from Minneapolis, one of the stowaways. The other stowaway was identified as John Dicker, 22, of Vernon, B.C., who wants to settle in England.

Tax Return False, Dentist Is Fined

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Dr. Edward S. Harris, Vancouver dentist, was fined $4,000 with the alternative of one year in jail Wednesday when he pleaded guilty in police court to a charge of making a false income tax return. The court was told that Dr. Harris' 1944 tax return showed income thousands of dollars" below actual earnings. Defence counsel said restitution was being arranged.

Britain to Decide Disposal of Nazis

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA— Those last 4,000 German prisoners of war who will be leaving Canada by Christmas may or may not be going straight back to their homeland.

As far as Canada is concerned, the Germans are being sent to the United Kingdom, and what happens to them after that is strictly up to the British government.

These prisoners were sent to us by the British government. We've kept them, and now we are just passing them back to Britain."

The point had arisen whether or not the prisoners would be sent to Germany or kept in Britain or France as a labor force to help in reconstruction work. Many thousands of prisoners have been used in this way.

It is understood Britain has been following the policy of sending 15,000 German prisoners a month back to Germany. It is further understood, unofficially, that "cooperative" prisoners have some sort of priority in getting back to their homes. The tough troublesome ones are likely to find their passage home somewhat delayed.

Quebec Man Heads Merchants Again

VANCOUVER, (CP)—H. R. Renault of Quebec City was elected to his sixth consecutive term as president of the dominion board of Retail Merchants' Association of Canada Wednesday night.

Four vice-presidents also installed were W. Craig, Olds, Alta., W. L. Charlton, Vancouver; S. A. Boswell, Hamilton, and Ken Higgins, Winnipeg. F. W. Hall of Toronto was elected treasurer.

A meeting of the dominion board of the association endorsed a resolution asking that the present system of unemployment insurance be extended to include a superannuation plan for retail store employes. The resolution called for immediate study and action by the federal government.

In other resolutions the meat dealers' branch of the association called for early abolition of meat rationing.

Churchill Called 'Great Red Baiter'

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP)— Henry A. Wallace, former United States secretary of commerce, said Wednesday in a speech before Macalester college that Winston Churchill is the world's "great Red baiter."

He said the United States appeared to be going on the supposition of a war with Russia as soon as that Russia was acting accordingly.

Strike Idleness Increases by 300%

WASHINGTON, (AP)— Strike idleness during the first nine months of 1946 exceeded by nearly three times the working time similarly lost in all of 1945, the previous record year.

Government figures Thursday placed at 98,225,000 the number of man-days lost due to management-labor disputes during the January-through-September period.

For all of last year the total was 38,025,000. Earlier peaks were 28,425,000 in 1937; 26,219,000 in 1927 and 23,048,000 in 1941.

The bureau of labor statistics, which compiled the figures, said the number of strikes and lockouts for the first nine months of this year totalled 3,575, compared with 3,784 for all of 1945.

The reason for the big jump in man-days lost, officials said, is that post-war strikes have extended for longer periods. During the war walkouts generally were small, spontaneous and quickly settled.

Raise Ale Ration In B.C. Next Month

VICTORIA, (CP)—A case of ale has been added to the British Columbia liquor ration for November.

W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the B.C. liquor control board, said Wednesday the October ration would be unchanged for November except for one case of ale which may be purchased at any time.

The general ration is four reputed quarts of spirits, one of which may be Scotch, or six dozen pints of beer or ale, or 12 reputed quarts of domestic wine, or eight reputed quarts of imported wine.

See Fallacies, Insincerities In Molotov's Tough Speech

By Peter Inglis

NEW YORK.— Looking back on Foreign Commissar Molotov's tough and clever speech to the United Nations general assembly and on his amazing offer of a world resolution on disarmament which it contained, observers here admit frankly they were taken by surprise.

Mr. Molotov's resolution—which, despite his efforts to have it presented immediately, cannot come before the assembly until the remaining countries have stated their views and the current debate is ended—is described as unexpected and almost unexampled.

In retrospect the cleverness of the speech, as well as some of its insincerities, are apparent.

Fallacies in Logic

Some of the points on which Mr. Molotov made his obvious bid to world public opinion—notably on disarmament and the outlawing of the atomic bomb—were presented with superb timing.

Equally they contained fallacies of logic. He proposed for instance, to outlaw the military use of atomic energy while condemning bitterly the Baruch plan for its control—considered the only plan so far conceived which would guarantee against the secret manufacture of atomic weapons.

Possibly one of Molotov's strongest points was his re-emphasis of Russia's demand for an accounting of the number of British and U.S. troops on the soil of non-ex-enemy countries.

May Swap Information

It is generally considered here the western powers will, sooner or later, have to supply that information although they may seek to exact in return from Russia information on some of her activities—perhaps on the number of Russian troops still on former enemy soil, or concentrated on Russian soil near the borders of other countries.

His attack on the exclusion of the World Federation of Trade Unions from U.N., a subject debated ever since U.N.'s conception at San Francisco, is also likely to prove effective and may win support in labor circles, especially in Britain and in Latin-American countries.

It is considered Mr. Molotov's speech, much of which was hard to swallow for the Anglo-Saxon mind, was directed in the first place at his own people; in the second at Communist groups in other countries and their sympathizers; in the third to world public opinion as the most intensive possible statement of the Russian attitude.

Although the speech contained implied appeals for greater trust in Russian intentions, it is believed Russia will "soften up" in her dealings with other nations in matters such as the use of the veto only if international relations in general become easier. It is believed the Soviet would like not to over-use the veto power to the annoyance of others, but may consider herself forced to do so as long as world tension continues.

Three Are Seeking Publisher's Estate

MONTREAL (CP) — The third wife of Eugene Berthiaume, his 21-year-old niece by marriage and a personal friend are engaged in a three-way contest over wills allegedly made by the Montreal publisher.

Mr. Berthiaume, who was 65 when he died Aug. 31, was chairman of the board of the Montreal daily newspaper La Presse, which has the largest French-speaking daily circulation in Canada.

A petition presented Tuesday before Mr. Justice Casgrain on behalf of the niece, Mrs. George Ketterer, asks an order for probate of a will Mr. Berthiaume is said to have made in holograph form 10 days before he died.

Mrs. Ketterer claims Mr. Berthiaume bequeathed all his property to her. She further asks the court to revoke a judgment which last Sept. 4 admitted to probate a will dated March 14, 1935, purporting to leave the entire estate to J. Lucien Dansereau. Mr. Berthiaume some years ago designated Mr. Dansereau, a Montreal civil engineer and personal friend, to represent him, in his absence, on the board of directors of La Presse.

The third wife of the publisher Fanny Colin, through J. P. Chazbonnens, gave notice of intervention in order to contest the niece's petition for probate and validity of the will in Mr. Dansereau's favor.

This notice was given on the ground that on Sept. 29, 1942, Mr. Berthiaume made and executed a will in notarial form revoking "all wills or other testamentary dispositions by him theretofore made."

On application of Edouard Masson, representing Mr. Dansereau, Mr. Justice Casgrain granted a delay of proceedings for eight days in which to contest in writing the niece's petition.

No indication was given as to the size of the estate. Mr. Berthiaume was owner of Montreal Matin, a daily tabloid, and the building and equipment where it is published.

Argentina 'Clears' Ludwig Freude

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—The Argentine government closed its case Wednesday against Ludwig Freude, absolving him of United States' "blue book" charges naming him as the "stay-behind" leader of Nazism in Argentina and the chief German paymaster there. A government decree said Freude had "not carried out any activities against Argentina or other American states" and had authorized the Argentine government to take over certain German funds frozen when the government began its investigation.

Auxiliary Services To Leave London

LONDON, (CP) — The four Canadian auxiliary services—the Canadian Legion, Y.M.C.A., Knights of Columbus and Salvation Army—will close their London offices next month and key personnel will return to Canada.

Henceforth problems of former Canadian servicemen in Britain will be handled by William Ferguson of Walpole, Sask., who has been transferred from the Canadian Legion to the British Legion as Canadian personal service officer.

Goering's Letters Not to Be Revealed

BERLIN, (AP)—The Allied control council for Germany announced Wednesday its unanimous decision that the three suicide letters written by Hermann Goering at Nuernberg should not be made public.

It was understood from a reliable source the four military governors felt that Goering had written the letters with the intent that they be published and that he "could make propaganda and try some legend-building with them."

Welsh Claim Aid Is Not Adequate

By Basil Dean

LONDON.—Sharply rising unemployment in the Welsh valleys, the impudence of Welsh people at what they regard as indifference in London and memories of the long and terrible depressions of inter-war years combined to produce bitter speeches from Welsh members in the commons.

With Sir Stafford Cripps as spokesman, the Labor government presented its proposals for Wales—its plan to build 136 new factories in the principality to provide employment, and schemes to bring prosperity back to South Wales ports.

Welsh members, many of whom lean toward a nationalist outlook and want a secretary for Wales appointed to the cabinet, leaped on these proposals with fiery, eloquent scorn. "Tinkering with Wales," said one. "Ballyhoo," said another. "Tragedy of the inter-war years has begun all over again," roared a third.

The Labor government, which draws much of its support from Welsh workers, tried to be conciliatory. Both Sir Stafford Cripps and Welsh-born Aneurin Bevin declared the government intended to make absolutely sure that depression does not return to Wales, and that if present proposals are not adequate new ones will be substituted.

But that did not prevent Prof. W. J. Gruffydd, member for the University of Wales, from warning that Welsh nationalism—which in its extreme forms goes all the way to demanding home rule for Wales—and Communism are gaining new adherents in Wales every day. And it is clear in Westminster as well as in Cardiff, Swansea and the Rhondda valley that every jump fans the flames of Welsh discontent.

As Lady Megan Lloyd George said, the Welsh think they are getting a raw deal. Men of South Wales ports note that their own cities are doing only mediocre business while English ports like Hull, Liverpool and London have more trafic than they can handle. On a per capita basis, unemployment in Wales is five times higher than in England. While all Britain is talking constantly of acute labor shortages, unemployment already constitutes a serious problem in derelict Rhondda valley, which was blasted by the slump of the 30's.

The Welsh challenge to the government was not pressed to a division; but England has not heard the last of the problems of Wales.

Ask Simplification Of Law Language

LONDON, (CP) — Commons members have decided it is impossible for any one member to read the mass of statutory rules and orders issued by government departments with the force of law, but they have devised a system to safeguard the rights of parliament.

This danger of "government by order-in-council" concerns members wherever the British system of government prevails, although the accumulation of modern responsibilities may make it necessary to delegate some powers of government. All statutory rules and orders of any importance are laid before parliament and can be annulled if, within a prescribed time, either the house of commons or the house of lords records an objection.

Despite this safeguard, members lack the time to read all orders and even those they do read sometimes are not understood. Speaker Douglas Clifton Brown himself spoke for house members generally when he said recently these orders should be framed in "language which an ordinary person can understand."

In 1943-44, when the flood of statutory rules and orders was near its peak of 2,000 annually, the commons established a select committee to consider all such documents laid before the house.

During the Labor government's first year in office some 1,800 orders were issued, a total substantially lower than during the war.

Sue Radio Chain For $33,063,048

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP) — A $33,063,048 suit seeking dissolution of the 169-station Columbia Broadcasting system was filed in federal district court here today against C.B.S., five of its officials, the Schenley Distillery Corporation and Schenley Distilleries, Inc.

The civil action was brought by Sam Morris, Dallas, Texas, evangelist and active campaigner against the use of alcohol beverages, and Henry M. Johnson, Louisville lawyer and president of the Kentucky Sunday School association.

The suit also named as defendants Jacob Paley, his sons, Samuel Paley and William S. Paley, Isaac Levy and his son, Leon Levy, identified as exercising a controlling interest in the Columbia system.

The petition accused Columbia of "unjust discrimination in not selling time for abstinence broadcasts by Sam Morris, the designated spokesman for the anti-liquor forces."

The petition said the broadcasting system had shown "unlawful discrimination in favor of Schenley and its allies and the commercial beer and wine interests" in selling them "the choicest radio time, on Columbia stations and network, to broadcast their appeals to drink beer and wine. . ."

Polish Immigrants At Halifax Nov. 13

HALIFAX, (CP)—The first group of Polish soldier immigrants is scheduled to arrive here about Nov. 13 on the Liberty ship Sea Robin, an army spokesman announced Wednesday. The ship is carrying 1,700 Poles who are being brought to Canada under the special government immigration policy providing for the recruiting of agricultural workers from among the ranks of the Polish army in Italy.

The army spokesman said another group of 1,000 Polish soldiers would arrive before the end of November. The remaining 1,000 of the 4,000 quota probably will arrive in December.

Majority of the first group will go to western Canada.

Troops Overseas To Get Yule Mail

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.— Nearly 4,000 Canadian servicemen still overseas are anxiously hoping their relatives and friends in Canada will remember them this Christmas with parcels, letters and greetings.

They had heard that postal authorities in Canada had decided to terminate the concession of postal arrangements for them at the end of October, but representations from military headquarters in London had brought about cancellation of the decision.

What they fear is that many Canadians won't have heard of the post office's new ruling and that their Christmas mail either will not reach here at all or will be delayed.

According to Canadian military headquarters in London, Christmas mail is to be handled this year exactly the same as it was all through the war, with special service mailing rates and delivery provisions.

Lieut. H. B. Horn, Edmonton, officer commanding the overseas postal detachment, said citizens at home should address mail in the same manner as they did during the war, giving the name, rank, number and unit, one of the Canadian army, navy or airforce overseas.

At one time the staff of the postal corps serving overseas numbered 2,500. The daily average number of bags of mail dealt with amounted to more than 6,000 for the year alone—as many as are handled in Montreal's central post office. The present weekly average is only 400, dealt with by 14 members of the air force and army.

In charge of sorting clerks at the postal depot is Sgt. Maj. L. A. Thomas also of Edmonton. Both Lt. Horn and Sgt. Maj. Thomas came overseas early in the war with the 1st division of the Edmonton Regiment. Neither has been home since.

School savings in Britain since the war have reached $400,000,000, equal to $168 for each saver.

Montreal Police Probe Abandoned

MONTREAL, (CP)— A petition by citizens for a vice probe in Montreal passed into court history when Mr. Justice Cousineau of the superior court granted a request by the petitioners for discontinuance on a partial probe granted by the court.

The request for desistment was presented by Jean Penverne, representing the Citizens' Vigilance league, after the petitioners decided they did not wish to go ahead with only a limited investigation, dealing with allegations against certain minor police officials.

A full investigation of charges linking the police department with an alleged $10,000,000-a-year gambling and vice racket, was rejected on the grounds the charges were not sufficiently specific.

Charges Husband Wrecked Furniture

MONTREAL, (CP)—Husband and wife were on opposite sides of a court case Wednesday in which Jean Robert Tremblay, 24, was charged with damaging with hammer, saw and razor every piece of furniture in the house.

Mrs. Tremblay testified that after they decided to separate last June, the husband returned during her absence and slit rugs and furniture with a razor and hammered and sawed the furniture until it was worthless. The furnishings were valued at $1,500.

Tremblay was ordered for voluntary statement Nov. 7.

RETURNING CAPTURES

CANBERRA, (CP) — Army Minister Forde announced Wednesday Britain had allocated sufficient shipping to repatriate by mid-January all Italian and German prisoners held in Australia. There are 13,050 Italian and 1,446 German prisoners and 340 civilian internees.

Premium Offered For Sugar Beets

LETHBRIDGE, (CP) — A premium of 75 cents per ton for sugar beets was offered farmers in this area Tuesday as an inducement to harvest quickly the estimated 90,000 tons of sugar beets still in the ground.

This tonnage, having an estimated value to growers of $1,200,000 and representing 25,000,000 pounds of sugar to the dominion, was buried by up to two feet of snow in the storm last week-end that completely stopped harvesting.

Sugar factory operators at nearby Raymond and Picture Butte, said the premium will be paid on all beets dug and delivered from Oct. 29 until conditions for digging become normal again.

Boy builders, working under skilled artisans are ahead of schedule in building 20 municipal houses in Lethbridge, Canada.

Shop-Breaker

Thief Gets 3-Year Sentence

Three years imprisonment in Prince Albert penitentiary will be served by John Daniels as a result of his plea of guilty to six charges of shopbreaking and theft of four autos when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Miller, KC, in the city police court Thursday.

EVIDENCE given by the RCMP revealed that the accused, along with a partner, stole a truck from a city garage, they proceeded to St. Albert where they broke into another garage and stole $24 and another automobile.

They drove this car without water and it finally stalled near Morinville, so they then broke into a garage in that town for the purpose of stealing another auto. There was none available so they took a sweater. Then they broke into another Morinville garage and stole a third auto. From there they continued on to Westlock, where they broke into a pool hall and took money and cigarettes.

ACCUSED WAS also charged with breaking into two stores in the Lac La Biche district and stealing a car while there. Daniels was apprehended two months ago in Toronto after he assaulted a peace officer.

"I guess I was just a darn fool," was Daniels' only remark to the magistrate, Mr. Miller pointed out that the accused had been making a fool out of himself for some time by the look of his record which showed that he had, on two previous occasions, been sentenced to one-year terms for theft of an auto.

DANIELS was sentenced to three years on each of the shopbreaking charges and 18 months on each of the auto theft charges, all sentences to run concurrent.

Indian Wounded in Shoulder; Boys Believed Responsible

Feeling a sudden sharp pain in his shoulder, William Morin, treaty Indian from Winterburn reserve, believed he had been struck by a stone from a slingshot, and so continued on in his horse-drawn wagon along 105 avenue near 150 street shortly after 3 p.m., Wednesday.

A few moments later, however, he saw blood running down his left arm—further investigation revealed that he had been struck by a rifle bullet high on the left shoulder.

MORIN CONTINUED ON TO DR. J. H. CONROY'S office in the Tegler building where it was found that a .22 calibre bullet was still imbedded in the shoulder. Dr. Conroy informed the police and had the wounded man removed to the Misericordia hospital.

Morin told police that at the time he was wounded he was driving along the edge of a ravine and believes the shot came from there. On investigating it was revealed to police that two boys, about 10-years-old, had been seen in the district carrying rifles. Police are now trying to locate these two youths.

Assume Role of "Quiz Kids"

Candidates Answer Voters' Queries On School Set-Up

Public school board candidates assumed the role of quiz kids, when they faced a public meeting sponsored by the Home and School Association Council, in the Garneau school auditorium, Wednesday evening.

Questions such as "What is your opinion on the school board supplying free milk to students who are forced to carry a lunch to school?", or "Are you prepared to seek the aid of the provincial government in the futherance of Edmonton's night school plan?", were hurled at candidates by members of the public attending the meeting.

Before meeting the questions of the public, each candidate spoke briefly, outlining the points of his platform and answering two questions set by the Home and School Association.

HOME AND School Association questions were, "Do you support in principle, the eight-year plan being pursued by the present school board?" And also the opinion of candidates on the need for technical education in this city.

W. W. H. Boyes, CDA candidate, said that he would like to see a strong effort made to secure a larger grant from the provincial government in support of education and that an appeal should be made to the federal government for assistance in furthering technical training in this city. He said that all school buildings should be made available, free of charge, for recreational purposes, after school hours. He pledged his support of the eight-year building and improvement plan.

Want Food Sent Over Alaska Road

Edmonton Chamber of Commerce has received correspondence from Alaska, requesting Alberta assistance in getting supplies of vegetables and other foods over the Alaska highway.

Charles E. Garnett, president of the chamber, said the matter was brought up at a Chamber of Commerce council meeting held in the Corona hotel Wednesday noon, and that it was being referred to the policy committee before steps were taken.

Alaska citizens report that food supplies are becoming increasingly scarce with the tie-up caused by the seamen's strike along the Pacific coast.

Dominion Help For New School

A federal grant of $200,000 has been promised to the Edmonton public school board to assist in the building and equipping of technical shops at the new composite high school. This information was revealed Wednesday evening by J. C. Macdonald, school board candidate for the Citizen's Committee in the civic election. Mr. Macdonald was speaking before a public meeting called by the council of the Home and School Association.

ROSS SHEPPARD, superintendent of Edmonton public schools, confirmed this statement, Thursday morning, saying that this amount was Edmonton's portion of the $10,000,000 grant promised by the federal government last year, to further education throughout the Dominion.

He pointed out that $750,000 was the total allotment for Alberta schools. This money has not actually been received by the board as yet, but it was expected by the end of the year.

Edmonton has already commenced on the new school. The technical shops will be located between the present Victoria high school and the new school site.

ment had already granted the sum of $200,000 for the building of the technical shops at Victoria High school.

As a replacement member of the public school board last year when Mr. Macdonald outlined the building program that had already been started and was planned by that board, and said that the board has been working for some time for approval of the provincial government, on the basis that the government assume 50 per cent of education costs. He pointed out, that one of the best ways to have this plan adopted in Alberta, was to have the farmers in rural districts approach their MLA's with the proposition.

Following his address, Mr. Macdonald faced a flurry of questions from the public, pertaining to various attitudes of the present board.

ONE QUESTION queried the attitude of the board on the supply of recreational equipment to the schools, which is now woefully small. Mr. Macdonald replied that the board realized the need for such equipment in the schools and spent $2,700 on equipment during the past year. He realized that this was a small amount and expressed the hope that it could be improved steadily without a raise in the present mill rate.

A further question put to Mr. Macdonald was that of the proposed 1947 status of Allendale and Pleasant View school districts. He replied that if the former Martin Estate, now housing veterans, was taken into the city limits, a new school must be built to accommodate students from that area. He said that the board was aware of the fact that present conditions at the Allendale school were hopelessly inadequate.

CARL W. CLEMENT, CC candidate, expressed his approval of the eight-year program and for more technical shops for students and said that he wanted to see better teachers in the schools. He realized that the only way to get good teachers is to pay them adequately.

Dr. J. L. Morrison, CDA candidate, said that he was in favor of the principle of the eight-year plan. He further stated that he was in agreement with the holding of meetings to show people the need to urge the provincial government to fall in line with the practice in B. C. and Ontario of contributing at least 50 per cent of the costs of education.

HE PLEDGED himself to work for adequate teachers' salaries and pension plan and stated that he recognized the need for technical education.

Queried by Stanley H. Churchill about his opinion on supplying milk to students, Dr. Morrison replied that if it is at all possible, to supply free milk to those youngsters, he would give it his wholehearted support.

Professor Andrew Stewart, CC candidate, referring to the eight-year building program said that while any plan may have to be modified in the light of the changing conditions, he heartily approved the objectives of the plan.

HE SAID THAT he was in favor of vocational training in schools but thought that technical training should not be started at too young an age and should not be too highly specialized. Owing to the expensive equipment needed for some technical training, a measure of centralization of facilities is probably necessary.

John Moon, CDA candidate, said that he would like to see equal educational facilities for all, no matter which district of Edmonton students come from. He said that he did not see the reason for better lighting, ventilation and sanitary arrangements in some city schools as compared to others. Free text books should be made available, he said, for primary and secondary education. Although the eight-year building program was about eight years too late, he gave it his full support. He recognized the need for technical shops in city high schools.

FINAL SPEAKER of the meeting was R. H. Rae, CC candidate who stated that the eight-year improvement and building plan must be carried out to a satisfactory conclusion. The problem of finances, he said, can and must be met without imposing an extra burden on taxpayers.

Queried as to whether in his opinion the cost of building schools would be any less three years hence, Mr. Rae replied that he doubted if building costs would see a decline within the next five years.

Dr. A. G. McCalla, president of the Home and School Association Council, was chairman of the meeting, which was attended by about 50 persons.

MLA's Visit In Edmonton

Among members of the Legislature in the city on the business of their districts and to visit the annual fall stock sale are Ivan Casey, Okotoks, and Robin Jorgenson, Pembina.

He said he expected a large attendance and that this year there would be a greater membership of the women present. First day of the convention will be given over to the Ladies' Auxiliary. Wednesday evening, second of the three days, there will be a banquet in the Macdonald hotel.

Boys Band Holds Reunion. Dinner

The members of the Canadian Corps Association Boys' band gathered at the Victoria Armory Wednesday night at a reunion dinner and before the night had advanced more than two hours plans were laid for band reorganization with a view to having it take part in Remembrance Day observances on Nov. 11. About 60 former members were in attendance and all signified the intention of joining the new band which will, like the former, be composed of drums, bugles and fifes.

PRESENTATION of a wrist watch was made to the band leader, Tommy Duguid. Mr. Duguid led the band since it was first formed in 1939 and will lead it after the reorganization. The presentation was made on behalf of the Canadian Corps and the members of the band.

A. G. Adamson, president of the association, presided at the proceedings and welcomed all the former members of the band. He also paid tribute to the work of the band organizers which he described, Mr. Duguid, Charles Styles, Charles Daws, Arthur Howe, John Turner, Walter Hunter and members of the executive since 1939.

Bishop W. F. Barfoot, padre of the association, gave his blessings and told of the sacrifices made during the war. A guest of honor and a former member of the band was Flt. Lt. Gordon Ockenden, DFC. Entertainment during the evening was supplied by Jack Jones, soloist and leader of the sing-song, and his accompanist Sam Hobson.

Edmonton Area Harvest Near End

Very little harvesting remained unfinished in the Edmonton district as of Thursday and what was left would be cleaned up within a few days, it was stated by officials of the agricultural department.

In the area from Edmonton south to Olds the situation was similar, and in the Peace River area threshing has been completed.

Over the week-end snowstorms in the south caught only about 10 per cent of crops unthreshed. This was in the Calgary-High River area.

Possible Rearming By Germany Seen

France does not rest on any assurance that a defeated Germany will refrain from attempts at rearming at her first opportunity and as a measure of national security is advocating the separation from Germany of the Ruhr and Rhine land, according to R. N. Thibault, Ottawa, press attache with the French embassy.

MR. THIBAULT, interviewed Wednesday at the Macdonald, is in the course of a speaking tour and addressed members of the Institute for International Affairs last evening. His subject dealt with French foreign policy.

He said "we want to see a rebuilt Germany with a decent standard of life."

To achieve this purpose Germany should be kept under point control of the United Nations and administered by a decentralized federate government similar to the Weimar republic which controlled to remain autonomous in Germany all through the Nazi regime.

ON THE QUESTION of continuing peace between the nations, Mr. Thibault said the prospects "are not too bad" but that it would be unwise to expect too much from the general assembly of the United Nations especially since no peace treaties have yet been concluded.

Blaze Damages Furniture Shop

A fire in the Progress Furniture Repair shop, 10524 96 street, caused extensive damage to the rear of the building and slight damage to some of the stock including some chesterfields which were under repair at the time.

THE FIRE might have become more serious had it not been for the prompt action of firemen from halls two, five and eight under District Chief Thomas Harvey. The building is a wooden frame structure, and next door is a large rooming house.

The alarm was turned in about 10:12 p.m. Wednesday night by a passerby who saw smoke issuing from the front of the building. Fire share started in the rear repair shop, the only portion which suffered heavy damage. The building was valued at $4,500. The owner, Charles Steiger, said that about $2,000 insurance was carried.

BASIC 3-WAY RECIPE

3 cakes compressed yeast
2¼ cups lukewarm water
⅓ cup molasses or brown sugar
2 teaspoons salt
6½-6¾ cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons melted shortening
3 cups All-Bran

If you do not plan to store dough in refrigerator, use only 2 yeast cakes.

Crumble yeast into large bowl; add lukewarm water; stir until yeast dissolves; add salt, molasses or sugar, and 3 cups flour; beat well. Add shortening; beat well. Add All-Bran and remaining flour; mix thoroughly. Sprinkle with flour, turn out onto board; knead until smooth and elastic (about 10 minutes). Put in bowl twice as big as mound of dough; brush with melted fat. Dough may now be stored, if desired. (To store, cover with waxed paper and store in refrigerator.) If dough, or part of dough, is to be baked at once, let rise until double in bulk. Punch down. Let rise 15 minutes, shape and bake according to the following directions. (If just bread or muffins are desired, make only half the recipe.)

ALL-BRAN RAISED MUFFINS: Form ⅓ of dough in balls to fill greased muffin pans ⅓ full. Brush with melted fat; let rise to double in bulk. Bake at 425°F. about 15 minutes.

ALL-BRAN FRUIT WHIRLS: Roll ⅓ of dough ¼ inch thick. Spread with fruit filling. Roll up and cut in inch slices. Place on greased cookie sheet and brush with melted fat; let rise to double in bulk. Bake at 400°F. about 20 minutes.

ALL-BRAN BREAD: Form ⅓ of dough in loaf; place in greased bread pan; brush with melted fat. Let rise to double in bulk. Bake at 400°F. for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350°F. and bake 45 minutes.

P.S.—Kellogg's All-Bran is guaranteed to keep you regular naturally or double your money back!

British, U. S. to Standardize All Types Weapons, Munitions

By Arthur Gaushon

LONDON, (AP) — Authoritative Britain, military informants said Wednesday that British Empire and American political and military chiefs have agreed in principle to standardize land, air and naval weapons and munitions to fixed United States sizes and patterns.

Informants said the basis of weapon standardization first was broached by Prime Minister Attlee during the conference here last April of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Mr. King, these sources said, told the conference that Canada was convinced her territorial integrity and future security were inseparably linked with those of the United States and that defence strategy has to take into account the technical, productive and scientific resources of the United States.

Australia Concurs

Prime Minister Chifley of Australia and Walter Nash, New Zealand deputy prime minister, expressed similar views concerning their countries.

The military informants said A. V. Alexander, defence minister-designate, would give the standardization decision practical effect as soon as he takes office.

Asked whether such an agreement implied the conclusion of a formal military alliance between Britain and the United States, an army source said: "No. But it does mean a deliberate decision from the British side to settle any disputes that might arise in the future by discussion."

The source said Britain and the United States were continuing to exchange information on military weapons developments — more than a year after the end of the war — adding: "I don't believe there is a single military secret between ourselves and the Americans."

To Take 10 Years

In practice, it was said, the arrangement will mean that in any future emergency Britain would be able to order most of her military requirements from the United States with considerable less trouble than in the last war.

The informants suggested it would take a minimum of 10 years to complete the British conversion.

A war office source said Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the Imperial general staff, discussed details of the standardization when he visited Canada and the United States in August and September and had impressed "tremendous progress" with all he had seen of the United States military machine.

Prime Minister Attlee announced the appointment of Sir Henry Tizard, widely-known authority on aeronautics, as chairman of Britain's new defence research policy committee which is to join the country's weapons of the future.

Says S. C. Leader Should Attend U.N.

NEW YORK, (CP) — John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader and delegate from Canada to the United Nations general assembly, said Wednesday he believed the Canadian delegation should be enlarged to include the leader of the federal Credit party.

In a broadcast Mr Bracken said the idea of having the Canadian delegation include the leaders of the opposition and of the C.C.F. was an excellent plan.

"I would have made the representative, either collateral included the fourth party in our parliament—the Social Credit group," he said.

"I think a thoroughly non-partisan group delegation is desirable. Withdrawing a delegation no section of the nation could feel that it was unrepresented."

Commenting on Mr. Bracken's proposal, Premier Manning, leader of the Social Credit party in Alberta, said he thought the principle outlined by Mr. Bracken was sound.

"I think it is quite right to say that if the delegation is to be truly representative of all groups in our country, then Mr. Low should be added to the membership of the delegation," Mr. Manning declared.

Photograph Earth From 102 Miles

WASHINGTON, (NANA)—Probable pictures of the earth taken from an altitude of 102 miles—more than five times the altitude from which such a picture has been taken before—are on their way to Washington to be developed.

A few days ago eight army air force cameras—mounted with special steel armor and operated by an automatic device—were attached to the tail of a V-2 rocket shot from the ordinance department's proving ground at White Sands, N.M.

Six of these eight cameras have been recovered intact and still in operating condition, after a search for several days in the area where the rocket was fired. The films appear to have been exposed as planned. It cannot be said positively, however, that any pictures were taken until the films are developed at the naval research laboratory here.

Show Earth's Curve

The greatest height from which such a picture has been taken before is less than 20 miles—over the Black Hills of North Dakota, for the National Geographic society. It showed clearly the curvature of the earth. This should be much more apparent in photographs taken from an altitude of 100 miles.

Even if the six rolls of film now on their way to Washington prove worthless, army ordnance officers are jubilant over their success in recovering the cameras and other delicate scientific instruments undamaged. It appears successful photography from the ionosphere will be only a matter of a few months at the most.

Three methods of bringing down these instruments were tested—all apparently successful. The first is automatic detachment of the rocket's warhead when it comes to about 100,000 feet above the ground on its return from space. It continues to fall at a terrific speed but by no means so fast as before—since it is so much lighter than the rocket itself.

Warhead Not Found

Heavily armored instruments enclosed in such a warhead would have a fair chance to escape destruction. In the test it is known the automatic device worked according to schedule, and that the front of the rocket was detached. It landed somewhere in the mountains but searching parties have failed to locate it.

The second method is to place the instruments in a steel container located in the rocket's control chamber just behind the warhead. Once the latter is detached, the entire tip of the rocket changes and the main body comes to earth more slowly. The steel box has been found with the instruments in good condition.

A third method is to place the instruments in a steel cylinder inserted between the alcohol and oxygen tanks just back of the control chamber. This cylinder has been located from the air, but a ground party has not yet been able to reach it.

The fourth method, probably suitable only for cameras, is to attach the instruments to the rocket's tail. It proved successful beyond the expectations of the officers who planned it.

With refinements being planned, it is believed that scientists now will be able to send aloft almost any sort of recording instrument for observation of conditions in the ionosphere and get it back intact. This has been considered in the past, the greatest handicap to the use of the rocket as a scientific instrument.

Long Manhunt for Cornwall Murder Suspect Ends

Arrested near Cornwall, Ont., was William Lama, 40, top left, whom police sought for 71 days in connection with the stabbing of his wife and daughter. Picture at right shows Seymour pointing to the window from where he watched. A charge of murder was formally read to Lama at the police station in Cornwall. He was remanded until Nov. 1 for preliminary hearing and taken to county jail.

Raps Federal View On Tax Question

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Senator G. G. McGeer, in a radio speech Wednesday said that the federal government has all the power necessary under Canada's constitution to finance all Canadian needs by taxation.

"Local troubles" stemmed from the fact that the constitution did not guarantee adequate revenues by federal authorities or a plan of financial aid by the federal government.

"The provinces are powerless to remedy their position because the constitution vests in the federal parliament the exclusive control over the nation's monetary powers and fiscal policies."

He charged that in dominion-provincial conferences, the provinces received "deliberate oppression, . bland indifference", . .but never willing co-operation.

"The national parliament has not only refused to help the provinces, but has continually encroached upon provincial revenues to the point where provincial and local governments virtually collapsed in the rack and ruin of the depression.

"It was the failure on the part of the federal parliament to use its powers in co-operation with the provinces that brought Canada into the state of economic collapse which existed throughout the depression," he said.

Hold $50,000,000 1942 Tax Savings

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canadian income taxpayers are due to get back $50,000,000, but it was said so long ago probably a lot of them have forgotten about it.

In 1942 the government introduced a compulsory savings plan as part of the income tax scheme. The plan continued until mid-1944. Altogether individual income taxpayers were compelled to lend the government about $260,000,000 and $50,000,000 was for the 1942 assessment.

They are scheduled to get that 1942 assessment back by March 31, 1948, with two periods interest. Their compulsory savings in the 1943 assessment — which amounted to about $115,000,000 will be repayable a year later and the 1944 assessment, which was for only half a year — $95,000,000 — a year after that.

The plan was introduced by the government to bolster the lending scheme, necessary to finance the heavy war expenditures and to drain off excess income which would have had an inflationary tendency during the war.

The actual amount which individuals get will vary greatly. The compulsory savings plan required taxpayers to set aside varying percentages of their tax in savings. A single person with no dependents earning $16 a month, for instance, was required to save 2½ cents a month, while a person in the same category earning $400 a month had to save $23.80. A married man with two dependents in the $100 a month class had to save $1.06 cents and if he earned $400 a month had to save $32.40.

Actually the compulsory savings did not run as high as that because the taxpayer was allowed to offset against them such normal savings as life insurance, payments on a superannuation scheme or principal payments on a mortgage, so the figures set down on tables were sharply reduced in many cases wiped out altogether.

Social Security Measures Urged

REGINA, (CP)—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said Wednesday that the dominion-provincial conference should be reconvened Wednesday "not to discuss the tax agreement . . .

but to discuss the social security measures which the federal government proposed over a year ago . . ."

Mr. Douglas said in a prepared radio address that "it is of the utmost urgency that the federal and provincial government tackle the problem of providing a greater measure of social security for the people of Canada."

147% Increase In Immigration

OTTAWA, (CP) — Immigration to Canada during the first six months of 1946 totalled 33,914, a 147.2 percent increase over the same period last year, immigration officials said Wednesday.

Most of the new Canadians were the wives and children of service men.

Of the immigrants 24,909 were of English, Scottish, Irish or Welsh origin, 5,227 were from the United States, 1,604 from northern European countries, and 2,174 from other parts of the world.

Almost two-thirds — 20,174 were adult females. There were 4,816 adult males and 8,924 children under 16.

Largest single class of immigrants, including children, was the farming class totalling 2,141. The others: farming, 903; laboring, 720; mechanics, 1,825; mining, 28; female domestic servants, 348; other classes, 38,049.

Ontario received most of the newcomers — 14,525. The western provinces: Manitoba, 2,112; Saskatchewan, 2,226; Alberta, 2,782; British Columbia, 3,786; Yukon, 9; North West Territories, 5.

Canadians returning from the United States in the six-month period totalled 1,737, as compared to 1,093 in January-June, 1945.

Raps Socialism For Saskatchewan

NORTH BATTLEFORD, (CP) — Walter Tucker, member of parliament for Rosthern and leader of Saskatchewan Liberals said here Tuesday that the application of socialism in Saskatchewan could lead "only to stagnation and failure to develop the natural resources of this province."

In a public address, Mr. Tucker said that on paper the Soviet Union has the finest constitution in the world, economic security and freedom for all, but when seven workers on a Russian collective farm had tried to make some profit for themselves they were tried as "common criminals."

Accident Victim Dies from Injuries

CALGARY. (CP) — William Cochrane Cream, Calgary, 66-year-old retired farmer, who was struck by an automobile which failed to stop Sunday, died Wednesday, bringing the number of traffic fatalities in Calgary this month to three—as many as had occurred in the previous nine months of 1946.

Police pressed their search for the driver of the car, who was reported by Crown and two eyewitnesses of the accident to have been travelling at an excessive rate of speed and to have raced on through a red light at the intersection.

Shooting Accident Kills Bassano Man

CALGARY. (CP) — H. A. Miller, 46, elevator agent at Bassano for the Alberta Wheat Pool, was fatally injured this week in a shooting accident while hunting two miles south of Bassano. Miller was struck in the left hip by a shotgun shell.

At an inquiry in Australia, Lieut. Gen. Gordon Bennett said that when he and other officers escaped from Singapore in a junk, their only means of navigation was a page from a school atlas.

For years, Alphonse Bertillon, Prefecture of Paris Police, sought for a better means of positively identifying individuals. In 1879, he learned the centuries-old Chinese secret, that no two fingerprints are alike. Today, with slight variations, the fingerprint system Bertillon developed is in universal use.

You need not let your walls be identified by dirty prints of little fingers. Not only one coat of Monaseal will give you easy-to-clean beauty on your walls. Over kalsomine, wallpaper, or new plaster Monaseal, the oil-paint that was first in its field, is still the best.

JEWS CALL PROTEST STRIKE

DAMASCUS, (AP)— The Palestine defence committee in Syria announced Wednesday it had called for a one-hour protest strike in all Syrian cities Nov. 2—anniversary of the 1917 Balfour declaration in which the British government resolved itself in favor of a national Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Camera Catches Tower in Midair Seconds Before It Topples

The 175-ton, 224-foot dirigible mooring mast built 22 years ago by Henry Ford at a cost of $250,000, is shown in mid-air seconds before it crashed to the ground at the Ford airport in Dearborn, Mich. It had moored only one airship. When Ford ordered it built, he believed lighter-than-air ships would replace planes. He was among the 3,000 spectators who watched his landmark topple.

Plan Wide Tests New T.B. Vaccine

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States public health service announced Tuesday that a new tuberculosis vaccine appears to "confer increased resistance" to the disease and will be given widespread studies in this country.

The vaccine is known as BCG and has been used on small groups of people in Chicago and New York and on western Indian reservations, as well as Europe and South America.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, chief of the tuberculosis division of the health service, said "it is the most promising" of several vaccines that have been tried.

He said it appeared "to confer increased resistance for the limited period covered in studies but is not 100 percent effective."

The decision to try the vaccine on a widespread study scale in the United States was reached after a conference here of outstanding tuberculosis experts from China, Denmark and the United States.

It will be used in a community of about 100,000 persons yet to be selected. Vaccination will be on a voluntary basis.

In addition there will be extensive investigations by research groups to determine results of the vaccine when used among various population groups throughout the United States, especially among persons exposed to tuberculosis.

Dr. Robert G. Ferguson, director of medical services and general superintendent of the Saskatchewan anti-tuberculosis association told delegates to a meeting of the National Tuberculosis association at Buffalo, N.Y. last June that test with BCG had been made among tuberculosis hospital personnel in Saskatchewan during a test period from Sept. 1938 to March, 1942.

He said that the tests showed that BCG provides "very considerable but by no means absolute" protection against tuberculosis and that it was found to be safe. When the disease did occur among those vaccinated it was less severe than among those not vaccinated.

Victoria Instrument Registers 'Quake

VICTORIA, (CP)—An earthquake shock of moderate intensity, centred 1,800 miles from Victoria in the Aleutian islands area, was recorded at the astrophysical observatory shortly before midnight Tuesday, Dr. K. O. Wright, seismologist, said it continued for an hour.

Britain May Hold Million Reserves

LONDON, (CP) — A British which doesn't want to let her military muscles get flabby hears talk today that within a few years she may have a reserve army of nearly 1,000,000 men.

The backbone of the reserve (or territorial) army would be conscripts who had completed their two years' service in the regular army. For another four or five years they might be subject to training in the reserve, along with an estimated 170,000 volunteers.

A government decision and announcement is expected shortly. It will be a well-considered announcement, because if the plan is put into effect it will indicate permanent acceptance of the principle of compulsory service in peacetime.

150,000 Per Year

The army's annual intake of 18-year-old youths is estimated at 150,000. If the new plan came into effect in January, the first compulsory reservists would return to civilian life — and territorial duties — in 1949. If they were required to spend five years in the reserve, it would have a roll of 750,000 conscripts in 1953.

This is far beyond any previous strength of the territorials. In 1938, in the midst of international crises, they had an authorized establishment of 200,000 but only 158,000 volunteers. A year later, on the verge of war, there were 204,000 volunteers for an establishment of 224,000.

For those who volunteered it meant training two or three nights a week and frequently on Sundays, and two weeks camp every summer. Enthusiasm soon waned, and the task of maintaining it among postwar recruits, who must be able to hold their own with conscripts, will remain one of the big problems.

To Streamline Setup

A thorough reorganization of the territorials' setup also is being ordered to meet the changed times and vastly increased establishment.

"You are likely to see the whole thing streamlined and put on a more efficient basis," said an ex-army officer who hopes to play a big part in the new territorials.

"We are going out after volunteers of real intelligence and drive — men who have had military experience and can lead others. The territorial army will have to — and I think it will — provide much more incentive and encouragement than it did before the war."

Yard Arrests Pair In Jewel Robbery

LONDON, (CP)—Two more jewel and fur thefts, including the £1,200 ($4,800) robbery of 20-year-old Princess Hilda of Bavaria, were disclosed Wednesday.

Spiro Constantinidi, commercial counsellor of the Greek embassy, reported the loss of £1,500 worth of furs and jewelry and £300 in wines and whisky in the second of the two robberies, both of which occurred several days ago.

Scotland Yard announced its first break in the spreading wave of jewel robberies with the arrest of a man and woman, charged with robbing Princess Hilda's Kensington flat.

This pair, Robert McPherson, 32-year-old engineer, and Patricia McPherson, 25, were arraigned on a charge of stealing the princess' emerald and diamond earrings and a diamond and sapphire bracelet. They were bound over without bail until Nov. 6.

Cracksman Gets $360, Narcotics

VANCOUVER, (CP) — A cracksman, termed by police as "narcotic-crazed," who squeezed his way through a tiny skylight in the Grand Union market here Wednesday, escaped with $360 and a supply of narcotics.

After squeezing through the skylight, the thief landed on his heels on a marble floor 15 feet below, and police think he may have suffered injury. Two distinct boot marks are visible on the floor.

The 250-pound safe was rolled the entire length of the building, from a drug store housed in the corner of the market, and expertly blown with nitroglycerine in the interior of an almost sound-proof meat cooler. A 50-pound sack of flour was placed on top to deaden the explosion.

The dial was blown off a second large safe in the market, but the thief failed to gain entry.

Some of the meat in the cooler was impregnated with "shrapnel" from the blown safe.

Claims Jews Drift To West Germany

NEW YORK, (AP)—Fiorello H. La Guardia said Tuesday that Jewish people formerly in eastern Europe are infiltrating into the western zones of Germany and Austria, but that "the British military authorities in Germany deny them D. P. (displaced person) status and refuse them shelter and food."

Elizabeth Woodward Says —

Grousing is a state of mind like swearing. You can sink into it up to your ears until it becomes your normal and regular way of expressing yourself.

If you swear easily and often you find yourself punctuating all your sentences with your pet words. If things please you—you swear to show how much. If things get you down—you swear to show how far. You bump your toe—you swear. You fall off the roof and crack your skull—again you swear. The same words greet all your emotions—big and little. It's just the way you talk.

GROUSING GETS to be the same thing. Every day has its little unpleasantness. If your sense of proportion is out of whack—the little things get to be as big as your major events. They take up too much of your thinking time and steam.

You're held up at the street crossing. You're in a hurry—and the line of cars and trucks seems never ending. You're annoyed—you're being delayed—you're going to be late. Why not hurry a bit to catch up—instead of using it as an excuse for being grouchy all day?

You slice your finger on a sharp paper edge. You tie it up in a tiny bandage—but the darned thing keeps getting in your way. You pick things up awkwardly—you feel all thumbs. Your annoyance keeps coming out as a deeper mutter—a wailing moan—a sour complaint. It's such a little bandage—why not forget it?

SOME OF YOU do enjoy being the victim. You play the martyr role for all its worth. The world is against you. And things get up before breakfast to get ready to happen to you. You never do anything wrong. But the things that happen to you! You have so much to complain about. Your conversation is one long sad tale.

That vase slipped off the table all by itself. The shade just snapped right up to the top of the window and tore itself to shreds. The tires on the car went nearly flat right in the garage overnight. The milk just boiled all over the stove by itself. You didn't do any of those things—but how you do gripe about them.

Now they didn't happen of their own accord. You were slightly responsible—because of your bad judgment, your neglect, or your carelessness. But you're the victim every time. You complain out loud. And so many things happen to you —you complain all the time.

WHY NOT HUSH up for a while? People get tired of listening to whining. You aren't really much fun to have around—unless you can turn your accidents into funny stories, see a joke—and make chatter about the nice things that happen. So turn on your steam to make the nice things big and dazzling. That will put the little annoyances in the shade where they belong.

Your Baby And Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It's always interesting for mothers to know what other mothers do in the same commonplace situations which harrass them. Despite one's interest, one has to be a little skeptical that all which "works" is valuable. Sometimes mothers get excellent results by methods which are open to criticism. It is well to remember that there are many ways of dealing with any problem and that the following methods are not foolproof nor beyond criticism, but worked well in this family.

Mrs. D. B. P. admits she used the same method to persuade her daughter that an early bedtime was desirable that another mother wrote about in this column some time ago.

"There are no other children in our family," she writes, "and we have a small house. But the baby soon learned that she was the only member of the family who was expected to go to bed at eight o'clock. No amount of explanation, coercion or special privileges made bedtime any pleasanter to my daughter. She is a reasonable child, too, and I often get excellent results by taking time to explain. But on this, no.

"So came the night that I announced bedtime, but instead of insisting I just dropped the subject. Later when I reminded her, she refused. We told her then (She was 3 years old), that she could stay up as long as she wished.

"All night, can I?" and we said yes. So we went about the business of going to bed, ignoring her. By the time we turned out the living room lights she was a very sad little girl, and for a good many nights after that she said, 'give me a bath and put me to bed, now.' We had to repeat this experiment once more and that was all.

"We also have a standing rule in this house that there must be clean plates or no dessert. It is amazing how quickly food can disappear when there is a chocolate pudding or no chocolate pudding to be had.

"I have found, too, that a snack of skimmed milk and cracker, or juice or a carrot or apple, in mid-afternoon, gives her a sharper appetite for the night meal. She seems to be ready for this about two hours after her noon meal."

Our leaflet No. 28 "Sleeping Habits," may be had by sending a stamped, self-adressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Dorothy Dix Says

Naturally the mother-in-law problem is an individual one and depends upon the personalities of those who undertake that relationship to each other. There is no predestined villain in the case. There are mother-in-law who are the best wedding presents their children get when they marry, and there are other mother-in-law who are first aid to their children's divorces.

IT BEING a matter of statistics that mother-in-law oftener heads the home-wrecking crew than any other one person or set of circumstances when a young couple's marriage goes blooey, an effort has recently been made to try to determine whether it is the husband's mother or the wife's mother who is most dangerous to have on the premises.

OUR OWN OBSERVATION, as well as our own experiences, will bear out these findings, for the mother-in-law problem involves instincts that never change. One of them is the different attitude mothers take towards their children's marriages. Every mother wants her daughter to marry because she knows domestic life is happiest for a woman, and she wants to see her Mamie safely settled in a home of her own, with a husband to support her.

On the other hand, few mothers really want their sons to marry, no matter how much they say they do. They can't endure the thought of their sons loving another woman better than they do them. They are filled with jealousy of their daughters-in-law and look upon their every act with suspicion, and daughter-in-law being equally green-eyed and determined to monopolize her husband, makes it impossible for them to dwell in harmony unless they are she-angels, which not many women are.

The mother-in-law problem is an old one and its solution is also an old one. It is for mothers never to go live with their in-laws.

Bridge

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

At all tournaments of the American Contract Bridge League there are pickup messengers to take the score cards from the bridge tables to the scorekeeper. We recently lost two of the most popular members of the pickup staff, the Roth twins, Marie Claire and Claire Marie, daughters of Harry J. Roth of Brooklyn, N. Y. They have entered Georgian Court College at Lakewood, N. J. Their bridge interest there will be centered on the fine card party given each year by the music department of the college, in which the twins are freshmen.

I recall kibitzing today's hand several years ago during the summer nationals at the Convention Hall at Asbury Park, N. J. Marie and Claire were youngsters then and were playing on the huge balcony of the Convention Hall. I think that the nose they made was responsible for a nice defensive play executed by East and West on this hand.

Tournament—Neither vul.

South	West	North	East
1♥	1♠	2♣	Pass
2♦	2♠	4♥	Pass

Opening—♠K 30

West cashed the king and the ace of spades, and then at most of the tables, West shifted to the diamond—and declarer made his contract easily.

But just as trick two was turned at this table, one of the twins knocked over a box which came tumbling down step after step from the balcony. Now West continued with the ten of spades and was horrified when he realized that he was giving declarer a sluff and a ruff.

However, as the sluff and ruff was of no advantage to declarer, he trumped in dummy with the seven of hearts. East overtrumped with the jack and South had to trump with the queen.

Then there was no way to prevent West from making both the ace and ten of hearts, defeating the contract.

* * *

West could have reasoned that his correct play was the ten of spades at trick three. He could tell from the bidding that East did not have a trick in his hand, and therefore his only hope was to make two trump tricks.

Why Grow Old?

Lovely Actress Jane Harker looks good as a telephone operator. More complicated than the switchboard, however, is the maze of nerve networks within her body.

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When we see the complicated switchboard of a telephone company, which is only a small part of the associated apparatus, we are awed by it, and yet we take the miraculous working of our body machines for granted. The intricate and constant work done by our nervous system is unbelievable.

THIS SYSTEM is made up of the brain, spinal cord, and nerves which go to every part of the body. Our skin is chuck full of nerve ends which carry all kinds of messages to our brain. Did you ever stop to think of the complex activity which goes on without your thought when your finger touches the stove?

The message goes to the spinal cord and on to the brain and before you know what has happened the direction for quick contraction of your arm muscle has pulled your hand away from the stove and another directive has caused you to say "Ouch."

Think, too, of the great job the brain has in controlling every organ in the body and regulating breathing and digestion. It must also receive various messages as a result of sight, hearing, taste, touch, and smell and institute proper action.

IT IS PERFECTLY marvelous the way the human organism can take care of itself. It lubricates, adjusts and repairs itself and runs smoothly, if we just give it a few materials to work with; mainly, enough rest, sleep, liquid, and the right kind of food. One would think that we would be glad to help our individual machine along but we sometimes just seem bent on throwing monkey wrenches into it.

Many persons suffer from nervousness. This does not mean they have bigger nerves than most of us but that they are more subject to emotional instability and more easily irritated than the average individual. It is a pretty miserable feeling, and is also difficult for those with whom such people live.

If your life is harassed by quick irritability and emotional instability, see to it that you have enough rest. Lying down for a short time after lunch, and oftener, is beneficial. You must have enough sleep and enough exercise to promote a good brand of sleep. You should avoid over-fatigue because this is the time when tempers flare and despondency holds sway.

IF YOU WISH to have my leaflet No. 56 "Pep," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Envoy's Job New To Fraser Elliott

OTTAWA, (CP)—Another in a series of Canadian diplomatic appointments is that of C. Fraser Elliott, affable and diminutive deputy minister of taxation in the revenue department, as ambassador to Chile.

While Mr. Elliott's appointment was learned on a non-official basis, an official announcement is expected to be made within a day or two.

The 58-year-old Winnipeg native had for some time been reported anxious to leave the revenue department, where he has served since the end of the First Great War. In his new post he succeeds Warwick F. Chipman, now Canadian ambassador to Argentina, who left the Chilean post open since his appointment more than a year ago.

While the appointment of other than a career diplomat to an ambassadorial post did not follow the pattern of recent government appointments, it was not surprising to observers here. A mild and approachable civil servant, Mr. Elliott has earned a reputation as a sound administrator during his years of office.

Despite an exacting inquiry into all phases of taxation and a scrupulous watch for possible evaders, he is credited with saving many Canadians thousands of dollars. At one time, when the United States was moving to tax Canadians 10 percent on any income earned in the U.S., he took his brief case in hand and left for Washington. When he returned, the tax had been reduced to five percent.

Mr. Elliott's appointment is the latest in a series of diplomatic moves which have seen Justice Minister St. Laurent appointed minister of external affairs; Norman Robertson, under-secretary of state, appointed Canadian High Commissioner to London succeeding Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey; Lester B. (Mike) Pearson, Canadian ambassador to Washington, appointed assistant under-secretary of state, and Hume Wrong, associate under-secretary of state, appointed ambassador to Washington.

Hope U.S. to Aid World Food Plan

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA.—There would be little possibility of the British plan for a world food board operating successfully without participation of the United States, government food experts said here Thursday.

They were commenting on the announcement of United States policy placed before the 17-state preparatory commission of which Canada is a member, now meeting in Washington.

While the United States endorsed the objects of the plan—namely to combat hunger and to stabilize farm prices—spokesmen for that country expressed doubt that the board as now contemplated could do the job.

"The plan calls for a revolving fund of from two to three billion dollars," one food expert here declared. "Without United States participating it would be impossible to raise anything like such an amount."

The British plan, put forward by Sir John Boyd Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, was the establishment of a world board with authority to operate an international "ever-normal granary."

While Agriculture Minister Gardiner endorsed the objectives of the plan at Copenhagen recently, he expressed the belief there should be full discussion of the means to be employed to put it into effect.

Charge Husband Murdered Wife

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—The 10-year marriage of the scion of a wealthy colonial family and a pretty janitor's daughter ended with the wife dead of a gunshot wound and her husband charged with homicide.

Authorities said Mrs Marie Shannon Purdy, 37, was shot Wednesday night in her bedroom before her six-year-old son in the climax of an argument with her husband, Charles, 42, over drinking.

Police quoted the child, Charles, Jr., as describing the tragedy this way:

"Poppy shot Mommy. They were arguing and they got pretty excited and Poppy said, 'I'll fix you,' and he went and got a gun and Poppy shot Mommy."

Police quoted Purdy as saying both he and his wife had been drinking during the day, his wife heavily, but that he was not intoxicated at the time of the shooting.

Purdy is a member of a club, where his wife's father, the late Patrick Shannon, worked as a janitor.

Gen. Cunningham Off Active List

LONDON. (CP)—Retirement of Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, former commander of the British 8th Army and present high commissioner and commander-in-chief of Palestine, has been announced. His Palestine appointment, under the colonial office, is not affected by his retirement from the army's active list. His brother, Admiral Lord Cunningham, was wartime commander of Mediterranean naval forces.

British Police Searching for Loot May Close Famed Petticoat Lane

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.—Petticoat Lane, where Londoners for centuries have gone Sunday mornings to barter, buy, or just watch, may be closed if black market trading in rationed food and clothing there does not stop.

The closing threat to the city's most historic market place came after a meeting of the borough of Stepney's food control committee which heard complaints that it is possible to buy virtually anything in the food line in Petticoat Lane without coupons.

Complaints of the food committee by neighboring food merchants followed others by the National Federation of Merchant tailors, who reported to police that members last Sunday saw lengths of worsted suit material changing hands at $16 a yard—and no coupons.

Petticoat Lane (the name was officially changed to Middlesex street years ago but Londoners stick to the old title) has long been known as one place in London where it is possible to buy virtually anything from barrow salesmen—at a price.

For months police have been keeping a close eye on dealings there, in the firm belief that much of the loot taken in the recent outbreak of thefts in London was finding an outlet through curbside salesmen.

This belief strengthened this week when a west end fur shop was raided by police and furs and jewels worth more than $40,000 were discovered. Scotland Yard investigators were called in to see if they could identify any of the property with official descriptions of valuables stolen in recent raids. Many of the furs had been or were in the process of being altered, presumably for re-sale.

Typical of the type of goods for which police are watching Petticoat Lane barrows is Buckingham Palace curtain material which was among property stolen from a nearby warehouse. Cut up and sold without coupons, material would fetch fantastic prices in the Sunday morning open-air street market, without coupons, the material would.

During the war, Petticoat Lane was a high spot for sightseeing Canadian troops who used to flock to London's east end each week to join the slowly-moving crowds who surged up and down the barrow-lined street.

Fear of Trouble Less in Germany

HAMBURG, Germany, (AP)—Fears of possible disorders in Germany this winter still are held by occupation officials although they have been lessened somewhat since announcement that the basic ration will be increased to 1,550 calories daily and that fuel will be distributed for domestic heating.

The situation still is tense enough so that John B. Hynd, British parliamentary minister in charge of the British zone, said recently that the approaching winter cannot be viewed with equanimity.

The fact is that the fuel ration, welcome as it is to Germans in view of a previous announcement that there would be none at all, is comparatively scanty, as is the proposed increase in food.

Both represent an attempt to offset the deterioration in the average German's position since a year ago.

This winter the reserves are going for the most part, particularly in the heavily-populated cities; health has been weakened by low rations during the summer, and few Germans have enough left of their savings to buy food at black market prices.

Salvage Wreckage Of Crashed Plane

OTTAWA, (CP)—The jet-propelled Gloster Meteor which Flt. Lt. William H. McKenzie of Winnipeg crash-landed last June on Helenbar lake in the Algoma district of Northern Ontario, has been salvaged and is being used for instruction purposes by the R.C.A.F. at nearby Rockcliffe airport.

The partially reassembled aircraft also is being studied to determine cause of the crash.

3 Killed by Blast In Rooming House

BALTIMORE, (AP)—Police said three men were killed and seven others injured seriously early Thursday when an explosion rocked a seamen's rooming-house near the Baltimore waterfront.

Three men were killed outright, five were burned seriously and two others were injured jumping from windows in an effort to escape the ensuing fire, police said.

Police are investigating a story that a car drew up to the building shortly before the explosion and a man carrying a suitcase entered the building, the official said.

The rooming-house is frequented by Spanish and Portugese seamen.

Fire department officials said later, a home-made incendiary bomb apparently was tossed into the living room. Police reported the owner had received a vague warning a week ago.

To Open Agencies For Immigrants

OTTAWA, (CP)—Resources Minister Gleen announced immigration inspectional facilities, withdrawn following the outbreak of war, will become available in Europe Jan. 1, for applicants admissible to Canada under present regulations.

Canadian immigration officers will be located at Paris, Brussels and The Hague and arrangements also will be completed for the Canadian diplomatic missions in Oslo, Copenhagen and Athens to deal with applicants. Provision also will be made for the examination of persons coming to Canada from Sweden.

Canada's basic post-war immigration policy still is under consideration. It is expected to be governed somewhat by the decisions of the current meetings of the United Nations assembly, which plans to establish an international refugee organization and draw up a program under which displaced Europeans will be absorbed by Canada, the United States and other new-world nations.

Pulpwood Ceilings In U.S. Removed

WASHINTON, (AP)— The Office of Price Administration Thursday removed price ceilings from pulpwood imported from Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The price agency said it had decided ceiling prices established in Canada were "sufficient to insure satisfactory price controls and no purpose will be served in having parallel O.P.A. ceilings."

Only a few days ago O.P.A. had raised its own ceilings on these same imports to the level of the Canadian ceilings, retroactive to Aug. 19.

At that time O.P.A. said approximately 1,000,000 cords of pulpwood are imported annually from the Canadian provinces. This represents about 30 percent of pulpwood consumption in the northeastern United States.

The new Canadian ceilings which were raised last July 8 ranged from $8.50 to $18.25 a cord, aboard cars at Canadian shiping points.

Deputies Confer On Parley Plan

ABOARD THE AQUITANIA, (AP)— After two days of inactivity, deputies for the Big Four foreign ministers' council met informally to review the work which lies before them when they reach New York Saturday.

Diplomatic representatives of other countries hastening to New York for the United Nations assembly meeting also were busy with preliminary confabs.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain meanwhile kept to his cabin, taking the first complete rest he has had since the illness which forced his temporary absence from the Paris conference.
